FROM THE

LONDON GAZETTE of FEBRUARY 7, 1851.

Buckingham-Palace, February 4, 1851.

THIS day Her Majesty, accompanied by His Royal Highness Prince Albert, proceeded in state from Buckingham-Palace to the House of Peers, where she arrived soon after two o'clock; and was received, on alighting from her state coach, by the Lord Chancellor, the Lord President of the Council, the Lord Privy Seal, Sir Augustus Clifford, Bart. C.B. Deputy Great Chamberlain, (in the absence of the Lord Willoughby de Eresby), the Lord Steward of the Household, the Duke of Wellington, Garter King of Arms, and the Yeoman Usher of the Black Rod, and proceeded to the robing-room in the customary manner.

Her Majesty was there robed, and the procession moved into the House in the usual order;—the sword of state was borne by the Duke of Wellington, the cap of maintenance by the Marquess of Winchester, and the crown by the Marquess of Lansdowne.

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

IT is with great satisfaction that I again meet my Parliament, and resort to your advice and assistance in the consideration of measures which affect the welfare of our country.

I continue to maintain the relations of peace and amity with foreign powers. It has been my endeavour to induce the states of Germany to carry into full effect the provisions of the Treaty with Denmark, which was concluded at Berlin in the month of July of last year. I am much gratified in being able to inform you that the German Confederation and the government of Denmark are now engaged in fulfilling the stipulations of that Treaty, and thereby putting an end to hostilities which at one time appeared full of danger to the peace of Europe.

I trust that the affairs of Germany may be arranged by mutual agreement in such a manner as to preserve the strength of the Confederation and to maintain the freedom of its separate states.

I have concluded with the King of Sardinia Articles additional to the Treaty of September 1841, and I have directed that those Articles shall be laid before you.

The government of Brazil has taken new, and, I hope, efficient, measures for the suppression of the atrocious traffic in slaves.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

I have directed the estimates of the year to be prepared and laid before you without delay. They have been framed with a due regard to economy and to the necessities of the public service.

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

Notwithstanding the large reductions of taxation which have been effected in late years, the receipts of the revenue have been satisfactory.

The state of the commerce and manufactures of the United Kingdom has been such as to afford general employment to the labouring classes.

I have to lament, however, the difficulties which are still felt by that important body among my people who are owners and occupiers of land.

But it is my confident hope that the prosperous condition of other classes of my subjects will have a favourable effect in diminishing those difficulties, and promoting the interests of agriculture.

The recent assumption of certain ecclesiastical titles conferred by a foreign power has excited strong feelings in this country, and large bodies of my subjects have presented addresses to me, expressing attachment to the throne, and praying that such assumptions should be resisted. I have assured them of my resolution to maintain the rights of my crown, and the independence of the nation, against all encroachment, from whatever quarter it may proceed. I have at the same time expressed my earnest desire and firm determination, under God's blessing, to maintain unimpaired the religious liberty which is so justly prized by the people of this country.

It will be for you to consider the measure which will be laid before you on this subject.

The administration of justice in the several departments of law and equity will, no doubt, receive the serious attention of Parliament; and I feel confident that the measures which may be submitted to you with a view of improving that administration will be discussed with that mature deliberation which important changes in the highest courts of judicature in the kingdom imperatively demand.

A measure will be laid before you providing for the establishment of a system of registration of deeds and instruments relating to the transfer of property. This measure is the result of inquiries which I have caused to be made into the practicability of adopting a system of registration calculated to give security to titles, to diminish the causes of litigation to which they have hitherto been liable, and to reduce the cost of transfers.

To combine the progress of improvement with the stability of our institutions will, I am confident, be your constant care. We may esteem ourselves fortunate that we can pursue without disturbance the course of calm and peaceable amelioration; and we have every cause to be thankful to Almighty God for the measure of tranquillity and happiness which has been vouchsafed to us.

At the Court at Buckingham-Palace, the 3rd day of February 1851,

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

Whereas by an Act passed in the session of Parliament held in the first year of Her Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act to amend an "Act for the regulation of Municipal Corporations "in England and Wales," it is amongst other things enacted, that if the inhabitant householders of any town or borough in England or Wales shall petition Her Majesty to grant to them a charter of incorporation, it shall be lawful for Her Majesty by any such charter, if she shall think fit, by the advice of Her Privy Council, to grant the same, to extend to the inhabitants of any such town or borough within the district to be set forth in such charter, all the powers and provisions of the Act of the fifth and sixth of William the Fourth, cap. 76, for regulating corporations, whether such town or borough be or be not a corporate town or borough, or be or be not named in either of the schedules to the said Act: Provided, nevertheless, that notice of every such petition, and of the time when it shall please Her Majesty to order that the same be taken into consideration by Her Privy Council, shall be published in the London Gazette one month at least before such petition shall be so considered:

And whereas the inhabitant householders of the borough of Blackburne, in the county of Lancaster, have presented a petition to Her Majesty in Council, praying that a charter of incorporation may be granted to the said borough, Her Majesty was this day pleased to order, and it is hereby ordered, that the said petition be taken into consideration by a committee of the Lords of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council on Monday, the tenth day of March next.

Wm. L. Bathurst.

Then follow two Orders in Council, dated the 3rd day of February 1851, approving the representation duly prepared by Her Majesty's Commissioners for building new churches—

Windsor-Castle, February 11, 1851.

This day a Deputation of Protestant Dissenting Ministers, of the Three Denominations, waited upon Her Majesty with the following Address :—

To the QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's faithful subjects, the Protestant Dissenting Ministers of the three denominations, in and about the cities of London and Westminster, desire to approach your Majesty with the assurance of our true-hearted attachment to your Majesty's Royal person and Government.

We would humbly represent to your Majesty our conviction that we are indebted, under God, for our national prosperity and greatness, and especially for our civil and religious liberties, to those principles of the protestant reformation which placed your Majesty's ancestors of the illustrious House of Brunswick on the Throne, and that we must ever look to the maintenance of these principles for the preservation of the just prerogatives of the Crown and for the constitutional rights and social happiness of the people. We therefore feel ourselves called upon, by imperative obligation, to denounce the recent claim of the Pope to exercise jurisdiction in your Majesty's realm as an arrogant assumption of power incompatible with national independence, and alike inimical to the authority of the Monarch and the freedom of the subject.

Warned by the past history of popery, as well as by the condition of those countries where it is still in power, we cannot but look with apprehension upon the boldness with which the Pope has felt himself encouraged to take a step, unprecedented in this country since the time of the reformation, since it indicates the existence of hopes and schemes which, should they be realized, would prove fatal to all that is dear to us, both as Englishmen and Christians; we cannot therefore refrain from expressing to your Majesty the deep regret with which we look upon the causes which have conduced to the recent measure, as they may, some of them, be found in the legislative patronage of popery, and some in the anti-protestant teaching and practices which of late years have so extensively prevailed in the established church.

While we desire in no way to infringe upon the religious liberty of Roman Catholics, and would humbly state to your Majesty our unabated claim of the rights of conscience, both for them and for ourselves, and for all your Majesty's subjects, we do not consider that these rights would be impaired by your Majesty's disallowance of the territorial titles and jurisdiction conferred by the Pope; and for the developement of popery to be only so far legally permitted as is plainly compatible with the security of the Throne and the liberties of the subject.

We desire to be allowed, in conclusion, to assure your Majesty that we are animated by the same spirit of ardent attachment to the civil constitution of our country, and of loyalty to the Throne, which have ever distinguished protestant nonconformists; and while we devoutly thank God for all the bounties which His Providence has bestowed upon us, under your Majesty's auspicious reign, we offer to Him our fervent prayers that your Majesty, with your Royal Consort, and your illustrious family, may possess every domestic and public,—every temporal and spiritual blessing,—and that at length, through the grace of our only Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, when your Majesty shall resign an earthly Crown, it may be to receive a Heavenly Diadem, and to reign in God's celestial Kingdom for ever.

John Leifchild, D.D. Chairman.
Robert Redpath, A.M. Secretary of the General Body.

To which Address Her Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious Answer:

"I receive with much satisfaction your renewed assurances of loyalty and attachment to my person and Government. I fully appreciate the importance of a firm adherence to the principles of the protestant reformation, and you may rely on my earnest desire in asserting the just prerogatives of my Crown and the constitutional rights of my people, to maintain unimpaired the blessings of civil and religious liberty, which are so justly dear to this country."

CHAPTER of the Most Noble Order of the Garter.

A CHAPTER of this Most Noble Order having been summoned for this day, the Knights Companions hereafter named, in their mantles and collars, assembled in the Green Drawing-room, viz.

His Royal Highness Prince Albert, His Royal Highness the Duke of Cambridge, the Duke of Wellington, the Duke of Devonshire, the Marquess of Exeter, the Duke of Richmond, the Marquess of Lansdowne, Earl De Grey, the Marquess of Abercorn, and Earl Spencer, attended by the following officers, viz.

The Lord Bishop of Winchester, Prelate; the Lord Bishop of Oxford, Chancellor; Sir Charles George Young, Knt. Garter; and Sir Augustus William James Clifford, Bart. Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod.

At three o'clock the Knights Companions were called over by Garter, when (Her Majesty and His Royal Highness Prince Albert having passed into the Throne-room) they proceeded, with the Officers of the Order, from the Green Drawing-room into the Throne-room.

The Sovereign and Knights Companions being seated, the Chancellor signified to the Chapter Her Majesty's Royal will and pleasure that the vacant stall in the Royal Chapel of St. George, at Windsor, be filled.

The Knights Companions then proceeded to the election, and the suffrages having been collected by the Chancellor, were by him presented to the Sovereign, who commanded him to declare, and he accordingly did declare, that the Most Honourable Constantine Henry, Marquess of Normanby, had been duly elected a Knight of the Most Noble Order of the Garter.

Then, by the Sovereign's command, his Lordship was received at the door of the Chapter-room by the two junior Knights Companions present, and conducted between them to Her Majesty, preceded by Garter (bearing the ensigns of the Order upon a crimson velvet cushion), and by Black Rod.

The Marquess of Normanby kneeling near the Sovereign, Garter on his knee presented the Garter, and Her Majesty, assisted by His Royal Highness Prince Albert and His Royal Highness the Duke of Cambridge, the two Senior Knights Companions present, buckled it on his Lordship's left leg, the Chancellor pronouncing the usual admonition.

Garter next presented, in like manner, the Ribband and George, and Her Majesty, assisted as before, put the same over his Lordship's left shoulder, the Chancellor pronouncing the admonition. The Marquess then kissed Her Majesty's hand, and, having received the congratulations of each of the Knights Companions, retired.

The Chapter being ended, Garter, by Her Majesty's command, again called over the Knights Companions, who, with the Officers of the Order, retired from the presence of the Sovereign, with the usual reverences.

At the Court at Buckingham-Palace, February 19, 1851.

The Queen, as Sovereign of the Most Noble Order of the Garter, has been graciously pleased, by letters patent under Her royal sign manual and the great seal of the Order, bearing date this

FROM THE

LONDON GAZETTE of MARCH 11, 1851.

Buckingham-Palace, March 7, 1851.

THIS day the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Councillors of the city of Dublin, waited upon Her Majesty to present the following Address; which Her Majesty was graciously pleased to receive on the Throne:

To the QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble, loyal, and dutiful Address of the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses of Dublin.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's loyal and devoted subjects, representatives of the citizens of Dublin in Corporate Council, having learned with alarm that it is the intention of your Majesty's Ministers to submit to Parliament a measure for the abolition of the office of Lord Lieutenant, approach your Majesty to implore, at the foot of the Throne, that your Majesty will be pleased to avert from us a measure, destructive of the property of the inhabitants of your loyal city of Dublin, and prejudicial to the interests of the entire country.

We feel that the abolition of the office would lead to the rapid decay and ruin of property created under its influence, but there are other grounds on which we object to this measure.

The Vice-Regal office is coeval with and continuous from the introduction of the English Monarchy into Ireland, as evidenced for centuries by the appointments of successive Chief Governors of Ireland by your Royal predecessors, and to our days by your Most Gracious Majesty, so that the office of a resident Chief Governor of Ireland forms part of the constitution under which we live.

We prize the institution of the office of Lord Lieutenant because it has been the connecting link between the Crown and the people of Ireland. Under it have the arts and sciences been fostered, civilization has progressed, and social improvements been advanced; moreover, the representative of Majesty once removed, no guarantee would then remain as to the judicious exercise of the executive authority in Ireland. The advantage of a residence among and personal communion with our people would be lost, while that wholesome public opinion which has been found so useful in a free country would be weakened and destroyed. Reiterating our unabated loyal and devoted attachment to your Majesty's Throne and Government,

We implore of your Majesty not to permit an interference with your Majesty's prerogative in the constitutional appointment of a Viceroy, or allow that office to be abolished in the reign of a sovereign who has ever manifested a deep interest for the welfare of Ireland, and the existence of which has been respected and continued by your Majesty's Royal predecessors, but rather let us indulge the hope that at some future period you may be graciously pleased to appoint one of the Royal Princes as your representative in Ireland, and thus unite more closely with your Royal family a people devotedly attached to your Majesty's Throne.

William Ford, Town Clerk.

To which Address Her Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious Answer:

"I receive with much gratification your expressions of loyal and devoted attachment to my Throne and Government.

"I gladly assure you of my warm and unabated interest in all that concerns the happiness and prosperity of my people in Ireland, and you may rely upon my giving full consideration to their wishes and feelings on a subject deeply involving the welfare of that part of the United Kingdom."

At the Court at Buckingham-Palace, the 7th day of March 1851,

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

Whereas by an Act, passed in the sixth and seventh years of the reign of His late Majesty King William the Fourth, intituled "An Act for rendering more easy the taking the "poll at county elections," it is enacted, that it shall be lawful for his Majesty, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, from time to time, on petition from the justices of any county, riding, parts, or division in England or Wales, in quarter sessions assembled, representing, that the number of polling places for such county, riding, parts, or division is insufficient, and praying that the place or places mentioned in the said petition may be a polling place or polling places for the county, riding, parts, or division of the county within which such place or places is or are situate, to declare that any place or places mentioned in the said petition shall be a polling place or polling places for that county, riding, parts, or division; and that the justices of the peace for such county, riding, parts, or division, in quarter sessions or some special sessions assembled, as mentioned in the Act, passed in the third year of the reign of His said late Majesty, intituled "An Act to settle "and determine the divisions of counties and the "limits of cities and boroughs in England and "Wales, in so far as respects the election of "Members to serve in Parliament," shall, conformably to the said last-mentioned Act, divide such county, riding, parts, or division into convenient polling districts, and assign one of such districts to each polling place:

And whereas the justices of the peace for the southern division of the county of Derby, in quarter sessions assembled, at Derby, in the said county, on the thirty-first day of December, one thousand eight hundred and fifty, have presented a petition to Her Majesty in Council, representing that the number of polling places within the southern division of the said county is insufficient, and praying that the town of Matlock may be a polling place for the said division:

Now, therefore, Her Majesty, having taken the said petition into consideration, doth, pursuant to the said first-mentioned Act, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, declare, order, and direct, that the said place named in the said petition, namely, the town of Matlock, shall be a polling place for the southern division of the county of Derby; and further, that the justices of the peace for the said county, assembled in quarter sessions or some special sessions, as in the said Act secondly above mentioned is mentioned, shall, conformably to that Act, divide the said southern division into convenient polling districts, and assign one of such districts to each polling place.

WHEREAS by a certain Act of Parliament made and passed in the sixth year of the reign of His late Majesty King George the Fourth, intituled "An Act to regulate the pay-"ment of salaries and allowances to British "Consuls at Foreign Ports, and the disbursements "at such ports for certain publick purposes," it is amongst other things enacted "that it shall and "may be lawful for all Consuls-General and "Consuls appointed by His Majesty, and resident "within the dominions of any Sovereign or any

And whereas such Consuls-General and Consuls have under the provisions of the said Act levied fees on certificates as to the shipment and discharge and desertion of British seamen at Foreign Ports;

And whereas it is expedient to alter the said fees; now therefore, in pursuance of the said Act, and in execution of the powers in Her Majesty in Council in that behalf vested, it is hereby ordered by Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, that whenever a British Consul-General, Consul, or Vice-Consul shall be called upon by masters of merchant ships to give his sanction in writing as to the shipment or discharge of seamen, or his certificate as to the desertion of seamen, it shall be lawful for such Consul-General, Consul, or Vice-Consul to demand, recover, and receive from all masters or other

At the Court at Buckingham-Palace, the 14th day of April 1851,

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

Whereas by an Act passed in the session of Parliament, holden in the seventh and eighth years of Her Majesty's reign, entitled, "An Act for amending an Act passed in the "fourth year of the reign of His late Majesty, "intituled 'An Act for the better administration "'of justice in His Majesty's Privy Council, and "'to extend its jurisdiction and powers,'" it was amongst other things provided that it should be competent for Her Majesty, by an Order or Orders, to be from time to time for that purpose made, with the advice of Her Privy Council, to provide for the admission of any appeal or appeals to Her Majesty in Council from any judgments, sentences, decrees, or orders of any Court of justice within any British colony or possession abroad, although such Court shall not be a Court of errors or a Court of appeal within such colony or possession; and it shall also be competent to her Majesty, by any such Order or Orders as aforesaid, to make all such provisions as to Her Majesty in Council shall seem meet for the instituting and prosecuting any such appeals, and for carrying into effect any such decisions or sentences as Her Majesty in Council shall pronounce thereon: Provided always, that it shall be competent to Her Majesty in Council to revoke, alter, and amend any such order or orders as aforesaid, as to Her Majesty in Council shall seem meet.

And whereas it is expedient that provision should be made in pursuance of the said recited enactment to enable parties to appeal in civil causes from the decisions of the Supreme Court of Judicature of the Island of Jamaica to Her Majesty in Council, the same not being a court of error or of appeal.

It is hereby ordered by the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice of her Privy Council, that any person or persons may appeal to Her Majesty, her heirs and successors, in her or their Privy Council, from any final judgment, decree, order, or sentence of the said Supreme Court of Judicature, as a court of civil judicature, or as a court of revenue or of escheat, in such manner, within such time, and under and subject to such rules, regulations, and limitations as are hereinafter mentioned; that is to say: in case any such judgment, decree, order, or sentence shall be given or pronounced for or in respect of any sum or matter at issue above the amount or value of three hundred pounds sterling, or in case such judgment, decree, order, or sentence shall involve directly or indirectly, any claim, demand, or question to or respecting property in any civil right amounting to or of the value of three hundred pounds sterling, the person or persons feeling aggrieved by any such judgment, decree, order, or sentence may, within fourteen days next after the same shall have been pronounced, made, or given, apply to the said Court by motion for leave to appeal therefrom to Her Majesty, her heirs and successors, in her or their Privy Council, or if the said Court be not sitting, then by petition to either of the judges of the said Court. And in case such leave to appeal shall be prayed by the party or parties who is or are directed to pay any such sum of money or perform any duty, the said Court or such judge as aforesaid shall, and is hereby empowered either to direct that the judgment, decree, order, or sentence appealed from shall be carried into execution, or that the execution thereof shall be suspended pending the said appeal, as to the said Court or such judge as aforesaid may appear to be most consistent with real and substantial justice. And in case the said Court or such judge as aforesaid shall direct such judgment, decree, order, or sentence to be carried into execution, the person or persons in whose favour the same shall be given, shall, before the execution thereof, enter into good and sufficient security, to be approved by the said Court or such judge as aforesaid, for the due performance of such judgment or order as Her Majesty, her heirs and successors, shall think fit to make upon such appeal. And that in all cases, security shall also be given by the party or parties appellant in a bond or mortgage or personal recognizance not exceeding the value of five hundred pounds sterling for the prosecution of the appeal, and for the payment of all such costs as may be awarded by Her Majesty, her heirs and successors, or by the Judicial Committee of Her Majesty's Privy Council to the party or parties respondent: and that such security as aforesaid for the prosecution of the appeal, and for the payment of all such costs as may be awarded be completed within twenty-eight days from the date of the motion or petition for leave to appeal: and the party or parties appellant shall then, and not otherwise, be at liberty to prefer and prosecute his, her, or their appeal to Her Majesty, her heirs and successors, in her or their Privy Council, in such manner and under such rules as are or may be observed in appeals made to Her Majesty from Her Majesty's colonies and plantations abroad.

And it is further ordered that it shall be lawful for the said Court at its discretion, on the motion, or if the said Court be not sitting, then for either of the judges of the said Court, upon the petition of any party who considers himself aggrieved by any preliminary or interlocutory judgment, decree, order, or sentence of the said Court, to grant permission to such party to appeal against the same to Her Majesty, her heirs and successors, in her or their Privy Council, subject to the same rules, regulations, and limitations as are herein expressed respecting appeals from final judgments, decrees, orders, and sentences.

Provided also, that if in any action, suit, or other proceeding, it shall so happen that no final judgment, decree, order, or sentence can be duly given in consequence of a disagreement of opinion between the judges of the said Court, then in such case, the final judgment, decree, order, or sentence may be entered, pro formâ, on the petition of any of the parties to the action, suit, or other proceeding, according to the opinion of the Chief Justice, or in his absence, of the Senior Puisne Judge of the said Court. Provided, that such judgment, decree, order, or sentence shall be deemed a judgment, decree, order, or sentence of the Court for the purpose of an appeal against the same, but not for any other purpose.

Provided always, and it is hereby ordered, that nothing herein contained doth or shall extend or be construed to extend to take away or abridge the undoubted right and authority of Her Majesty, her heirs and successors, upon the humble petition of any person or persons aggrieved by any judgment or determination of either of the said Courts, at any time to admit his, her, or their appeal therefrom, upon such terms and upon such securities, limitations, restrictions, and regulations, as Her Majesty, or her heirs or successors, shall think fit, and to reverse, correct, or vary such judgment or determination as to Her Majesty, her heirs or successors, shall seem meet.

And it is further ordered, that in all cases of appeal made from any judgment, order, sentence, or decree of the said Court to Her Majesty, her heirs or successors, in her or their Privy Council, such Court shall certify and transmit to Her Majesty, her heirs and successors, in her or their Privy Council, a true and correct copy of all evidence, proceedings, judgments, decrees, and orders, had or made, in such cases appealed, so far as the same have relation to the matters of appeal, such copies to be certified under the seal of the said Court. And that the said Court shall also certify and transmit to Her Majesty, her heirs and successors, in her or their Privy Council, a copy of the reasons given by the judges of such Court, or by any of such judges for or against the judgment or determination appealed against. And it is further directed and ordained that the said Court shall, in all cases of appeal to Her Majesty, her heirs or successors, conform to and execute, or cause to be executed, such judgments and orders as Her Majesty, her heirs or successors, in her or their Privy Council shall think fit to make in the premises, in such manner as any original judgment, decree, or decretal orders, or other order or rule of the said Court, should or might have been executed.

And the Right Honourable Earl Grey, one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, is to give the necessary directions herein accordingly.

Wm. L. Bathurst.

On the Queen taking Her Seat in the Chair of State, His Royal Highness Prince Albert joined the other Royal Commissioners, and when the Music had ceased, proceeded at their head to the platform, and read to Her Majesty the following Report of the proceedings of the Commission up to that time, which he delivered to Her Majesty, together with a Catalogue of the Articles exhibited.

"MAY IT PLEASE YOUR MAJESTY,

"WE, the Commissioners appointed by Your Majesty's Royal Warrant of the 3rd of January

1850, for the promotion of the Exhibition of the Works of Industry of all Nations, and subsequently incorporated by Your Majesty's Royal Charter of the 15th of August in the same year, humbly beg leave, on the occasion of Your Majesty's auspicious visit at the opening of the Exhibition, to lay before you a brief statement of our proceedings to the present time.

"By virtue of the authority graciously committed to us by Your Majesty, we have made diligent inquiry into the matters which Your Majesty was pleased to refer to us, namely, into the best mode of introducing the productions of Your Majesty's Colonies and of Foreign Countries into this Kingdom, the selection of the most suitable site for the Exhibition, the general conduct of the undertaking, and the proper method of determining the nature of the Prizes, and of securing the most impartial distribution of them.

"In the prosecution of these inquiries, and in the discharge of the duties assigned to us by Your Majesty's Royal Charter of Incorporation, we have held constant meetings of our whole body, and have, moreover, referred numerous questions connected with a great variety of subjects to Committees, composed partly of our own members and partly of individuals distinguished in the several departments of science and the arts, who have cordially responded to our applications for their assistance at a great sacrifice of their valuable time.

"Among the earliest questions brought before us was the important one as to the terms upon which articles offered for exhibition should be admitted into the Building. We considered that it was a main characteristic of the national undertaking in which we were engaged that it should depend wholly upon the voluntary contributions of the people of this country for its success; and we therefore decided, without hesitation, that no charge whatever should be made on the admission of such goods. We considered, also, that the office of selecting the articles to be sent should be intrusted in the first instance to Local Committees, to be established in every foreign country, and in various districts of Your Majesty's dominions, a general power of control being reserved to the Commission.

"We have now the gratification of stating that our anticipations of support in this course have in all respects been fully realized. Your Majesty's most gracious donation to the funds of the Exhibition was the signal for voluntary contributions from all, even the humblest classes of your subjects, and the funds which have thus been placed at our disposal amount at present to about 65,000*l.* Local committees, from which we have uniformly received the most zealous co-operation, were formed in all parts of the United Kingdom, in many of Your Majesty's colonies, and in the territories of the Hon. East India Company. The most energetic support has also been received from the Governments of nearly all the countries of the world, in most of which Commissions have been appointed for the special purpose of promoting the objects of an Exhibition justly characterised in Your Majesty's Royal warrant as an Exhibition of the Works of Industry of all Nations.

"We have also to acknowledge the great readiness with which persons of all classes have come forward as Exhibitors. And here again it becomes our duty to return our humble thanks to your Majesty for the most gracious manner in which Your Majesty has condescended to associate yourself with your subjeets, by yourself contributing some most valuable and intercsting articles to the Exhibition.

" The number of Exhibitors whose productions it has been found possible to accommodate is about 15,000, of whom nearly one-half are British. The remainder represent the produetions of more than forty forcign countries, eomprising almost the whole of the civilized nations of the globe. In arranging the spaee to be allotted to each, we have taken into consideration both the nature of its productions and the faeilities of aeeess to this eountry afforded by its geographical position. Your Majesty will find the produetions of Your Majesty's dominions arranged in the western portion of the Building, and those of foreign eountries in the eastern. The Exhibition is divided into the four great classes of—1. Raw Materials; 2. Machinery; 3. Manufactures; and 4. Seulpture and the Fine Arts. A further division has been made aeeording to the geographieal position of the countries represented; those whieh lie within the warmer latitudes being placed near the eentre of the Building, and the colder countries at the extremities.

" Your Majesty having been graeiously pleased to grant a site in this your Royal park for the purposes of the Exhibition, the first eolumn of the strueture now honoured by Your Majesty's presence was fixed on the 26th of September last. Within the short period, therefore, of seven months, owing to the energy of the Contraetors, and the aetive industry of the workmen employed by them, a building has been ereeted, entirely novel in its eonstruction, eovering a spaee of more than 18 aeres, measuring 1,851 feet in length, and 456 feet in extreme breadth, eapable of eontain-ing 40,000 visitors, and affording a frontage for the Exhibition of Goods to the extent of more than 10 miles. For the original suggestion of the principle of this structure, the Commissioners are indebted to Mr. Joseph Paxton, to whom they feel their acknowledgments to be justly due for this interesting feature of their undertaking.

"With regard to the distribution of Rewards to deserving Exhibitors, we have decided that they should be given in the form of Medals, not with reference to merely individual competition, but as rewards for excellence in whatever shape it may present itself. The selection of the persons to be so rewarded has been intrusted to Juries composed equally of British subjects and of Foreigners, the former having been selected by the Commission from the recommendations made by the Local Committees, and the latter by the Governments of the Foreign Nations the productions of which are exhibited. The names of these Jurors, comprising as they do many of European celebrity, afford the best guarantee of the impartiality with which the Rewards will be assigned.

"It affords much gratification that, notwithstanding the magnitude of this undertaking, and the great distances from which many of the articles now exhibited have had to be collected, the day on which Your Majesty has been graciously pleased to be present at the inauguration of the Exhibition is the same day that was originally named for its opening, thus affording a proof of what may, under God's blessing, be accomplished by goodwill and cordial co-operation among nations, aided by the means that modern science has placed at our command.

"Having thus briefly laid before Your Majesty the results of our labours, it now only remains for us to convey to Your Majesty our dutiful and loyal acknowledgments of the support and encouragement which we have derived throughout this extensive and laborious task from the gracious favour and countenance of Your Majesty. It is our heartfelt prayer that this undertaking, which has for its end the promotion of all branches of human industry and the strengthening of the bonds of peace and friendship among all nations of the earth, may, by the blessing of Divine Providence, conduce to the welfare of Your Majesty's people, and be long remembered among the brightest circumstances of Your Majesty's peaceful and happy reign."

Her Majesty returned the following gracious answer, handed to her by the Secretary of State:

"I RECEIVE with the greatest satisfaction the Address which you have presented to Me on the opening of this Exhibition.

"I have observed with a warm and increasing interest the progress of your proceedings in the execution of the duties intrusted to you by the Royal Commission, and it affords me sincere gratification to witness the successful result of your judicious and unremitting exertions in the splendid spectacle by which I am this day surrounded.

"I cordially concur with you in the prayer that, by God's blessing, this undertaking may conduce to the welfare of My people, and to the common interests of the human race, by encouraging the arts of peace and industry, strengthening the bonds of union among the nations of the earth, and promoting a friendly and honourable rivalry in the useful exercise of those faculties which have been conferred by a beneficent Providence for the good and the happiness of mankind."

After which His Royal Highness Prince Albert took his place again by the side of Her Majesty.

His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury, commencing with "The Lord's Prayer," proceeded to invoke God's Blessing upon the undertaking in the following words:—

"Almighty and everlasting God, who dost govern all things both in heaven and earth, without whom nothing is strong, nothing is holy; accept, we beseech Thee, the sacrifice of praise and thanksgiving, and receive these our prayers, which we offer unto Thee this day in behalf of the kingdom and people of this land. We acknowledge, O Lord, that Thou hast multiplied upon us blessings which Thou mightest most justly have withheld: we acknowledge that it is not because of works of righteousness which we have done, but of Thy great mercy, that we are permitted to come before Thee with the voice of thanksgiving; and that instead of humbling us for our offences, Thou hast given us fresh cause to praise Thee for Thine abundant goodness. And now, O Lord, we beseech Thee to bless the work which Thou hast enabled us to begin, and to regard with Thy favour our present purpose of uniting together in the bonds of peace and concord the different nations of the earth. For with Thee, O Lord, is the preparation of the heart in man. Of Thee it cometh that violence is not heard in our land, wasting nor destruction within its borders. It is of Thee, O Lord, that nation does not lift up sword against nation, nor learn war any more. It is of Thee that peace is within our walls, and plenteousness within our palaces. It is of Thee that men go to and fro in safety, and knowledge is increased throughout the world: for the Spirit of man is from Thee, and the inspiration of the Almighty giveth him understanding. Therefore, O Lord, not unto us, not unto us, but unto Thy name be all the praise. Whilst we survey the works of art and industry which surround us, let not our hearts be lifted up, that we forget the Lord our God, as if our own power or the might of our hands had gotten us this wealth. Teach us ever to remember that all this store which we have prepared cometh of Thine hand, and is all Thine own. Both riches and honour come of Thee, and Thou reignest over all; and in Thine hand it is to make great, and to give strength unto all. Now therefore, O God, we thank Thee, we praise Thee, and entreat Thee so to overrule this assemblage of many nations, that it may tend to the advancement of Thy glory, to the diffusion of Thy holy word, to the increase of general prosperity, by promoting peace and good will amongst the different races of mankind. Let the many mercies which we receive from Thee, dispose our hearts to serve Thee more faithfully, who art the Author and Giver of them all. And, finally, O Lord, teach us so to use those earthly blessings which Thou givest us richly to enjoy, that they may not withdraw our affections from those heavenly things which Thou hast prepared for them that love and serve Thee, through the merits and mediation of Thy Son Jesus Christ our Lord; to whom, with Thee and the Holy Ghost, be all honour and glory, for ever and ever."

After which the Hallelujah Chorus was sung by the Choir.

The Procession, turning to the right, moved to the west end of the Nave by its north side, and returning by its south side, passed round the south end of the Transept, and continuing to the east end of the Nave, came back to the centre of the Transept: thus enabling all that were present to see Her Majesty and the Procession.

During the Procession at the Queen's approach, the respective organs were successively played.

On Her Majesty's return to the platform, the Queen commanded the Lord Chamberlain to declare "The Exhibition open!" The declaration being made, it was announced to the Public by a flourish of trumpets, and by the firing of a royal salute on the north of the Serpentine; whereupon, the barriers, which had kept the Nave and Transepts clear, were removed, and the Public allowed to circulate.

Her Majesty returned to Buckingham Palace by the route by which she came.

All the doors, which had been closed at half past eleven o'clock, were re-opened upon Her Majesty's departure.

TREASURY WARRANT.

Whereas, by an Act passed in the fourth year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for the regulation of the duties of postage," certain scales of weight and rates of postage were fixed and made chargeable and payable upon, for, or in respect of, letters, newspapers, parliamentary proceedings, and printed papers, transmitted and forwarded by the post, and various regulations were made for facilitating the transmission of such letters and papers by the post:

And whereas, by an Act passed in the eleventh year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for giving further facilities for the transmission of letters by post, and for the regulating the duties of postage thereon, and for other purposes relating to the Post-office," the proviso concerning the maximum weight of letters to be sent by the post, as fixed in and by the said first

mentioned Act is repealed; and, in order to prevent packets of an unwieldy bulk, or an inconvenient size, being transmitted by the post, power is given to the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, at any time or times thereafter, by warrant under their hands, to fix a maximum weight of letters to be sent by the post, and from time to time to repeal or revoke such maximum weight wholly or in part, and declare any other maximum of weight in lieu thereof, and all letters are to be forwarded, conveyed, and delivered by the post in conformity with any such warrant, and also in conformity with, and under, and subject to, all such orders, conditions, limitations, regulations, and restrictions, as to the form, size, or dimensions thereof, whether in proportion to the weight or otherwise, as the Postmaster-General, with the consent of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, shall from time to time direct, and by the said Act power is also given to the Postmaster-General to collect and receive the foreign and colonial postage charged or chargeable on any letters sent by the post, and also with the consent of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury to require the postage, British, colonial, or foreign, of any letters sent by the post to be prepaid either in money or in stamps as he may think fit on the same being put into the Post-office, and also with such consent to abolish or restrict the prepayment in money of postage on letters sent by the post, either altogether or on certain letters, and to require the prepayment thereof to be in stamps, and to refuse to receive or send by the post any letters tendered contrary to any regulations thereby made, and it is also declared and enacted that it shall be lawful for the Postmaster-General and any officer of the Post-office to detain any letters which shall be posted or sent by the post contrary to the regulations of that Act or the first-mentioned Act, or contrary to the regulations of any Treasury Warrant to be issued under or by virtue of that Act, or which had been or should be issued under or by virtue of the said first-mentioned Act, and to open such letters, and either to return them to the senders thereof, or to forward them to the places of their destination, charged in either case with such rates of postage as the Postmaster-General, with the consent of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, shall from time to time direct:

Now, we, the undersigned, being two of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, do, in exercise of the powers reserved to us, in and by the said before-mentioned Acts, or either of them, and of all other powers enabling us, in this behalf, by this warrant under our hands, order and direct that printed books, printed magazines, printed reviews, printed pamphlets, (whether British, colonial, or foreign) may, from henceforth, be transmitted by the post, between any part of the United Kingdom and Canada, or the Ionian Islands, subject to the several regulations and rates hereinafter contained (that is to say):

On every packet consisting of a single printed book, or printed magazine, or printed review, or printed pamphlet, the several sheets or parts of which, when more than one, shall be sewed or bound together, if not exceeding half a pound in weight, there shall be charged and taken one uniform rate of postage of sixpence.

And on every such packet, if exceeding half a pound, and not exceeding one pound in weight, there shall be charged and taken one uniform rate of postage of one shilling.

And on every such packet, if exceeding one pound and not exceeding two pounds in weight, there shall be charged and taken one uniform rate of postage of two shillings.

And on every such packet, if exceeding two pounds and not exceeding three pounds in weight, there shall be charged and taken one uniform rate of postage of three shillings.

And for every additional one pound in weight of any such packet, above the weight of three pounds, there shall be charged and taken an additional rate of postage of one shilling, and every fraction of such additional pound shall be charged as an additional pound.

And we further order and direct that no such packet, if containing more than one printed book, or printed magazine, or printed review, or printed pamphlet, or containing any paper or thing besides a printed book, printed magazine, printed review, or printed pamphlet, or containing any printed book, printed magazine, printed review, or printed pamphlet, the several sheets or parts of which, when more than one, shall not be sewed or bound together, or which packet, in length or breadth, or width or depth, shall exceed the dimensions of two feet or twenty-four inches, shall be forwarded by the post under the provisions aforesaid.

And we further order and direct, that as to any packet hereinbefore authorized to be sent by the post under the provisions aforesaid, which shall be posted in the United Kingdom, the postage thereof shall in every case be prepaid at the time of the same being posted, not in money, but by being duly stamped with the proper postage stamp or stamps affixed thereto, which stamp or stamps shall in every case be affixed or appear on the outside of every such packet, near the address, and shall be of the value or amount of the postage duty payable thereon, under or by virtue of this warrant; and as to any such packet posted in Canada or the Ionian Islands, the postage thereof shall in every case be prepaid, either in money or by the proper postage stamp or stamps being affixed thereto at the time of the same being posted.

And we further order and direct, that every such packet shall be sent without a cover, or in a cover or envelope open at the ends or sides, and shall contain printed matter only with the binding thereof, and there shall be no writing or marks upon the cover or envelope thereof, or upon or within any part of the contents thereof other than the name and address of the person to whom the packet shall be sent.

And in order to prevent any obstacles to the due and regular transmission of letters by the post, we further direct that it shall be lawful for any officer of the Post-office in the United Kingdom to delay the transmission of any packet posted or forwarded by the post under the provisions of this warrant, either for the space of twenty-four hours from the time at which (or at his option until the dispatch of the mail next after that by which) the same ought otherwise to have been forwarded by him.

And we further direct that nothing hereinbefore contained shall be construed to interfere with or affect the transmission by the post of printed votes and proceedings of the Imperial Parliament, or of printed votes and proceedings of the Colonial Legislatures, nor of printed papers, or other printed publications which are allowed to pass by the post under the newspaper privilege.

And we further order and direct, that if any packet sent, or tendered, or delivered, in order to be sent by the post under the provisions of this present warrant, shall contain any paper or thing besides a printed book, printed magazine, printed review, or printed pamphlet, and the binding thereof, or shall have any writing or marks upon the same, or upon the cover or envelope thereof, except the name and address of the person to whom it is forwarded, or shall not be open at the ends or sides, or shall in length or breadth, or width or depth, exceed the dimensions of two feet, or twenty-four inches, or shall contain more than one printed book, or printed magazine, or printed review, or printed pamphlet, or shall contain any printed book, printed magazine, printed review, or printed pamphlet, the several sheets or parts of which, when more than one, shall not be sewed or bound together, or if the postage of any such packet posted in the United Kingdom shall not be duly and properly prepaid by stamps when posted, or if the postage of any such packet posted in Canada or the Ionian Islands, shall not be duly and properly prepaid in money or by stamps, when posted, the same shall and may be detained and opened at any place in the United Kingdom, and at the option of the Postmaster-General shall be either returned or given up to the sender thereof, or be given up to the person to whom it shall be addressed, or be forwarded to the place of its destination ; and any such packet on being so returned, given up, or forwarded, shall be chargeable with the like amount of postage to which it would have been liable as a letter.

And we further direct that nothing herein contained shall be construed to extend to any packets sent through France, or any other foreign country, to which a transit rate of postage would be payable thereon, nor to any packets sent by private ships.

FROM THE

LONDON GAZETTE of JUNE 6, 1851.

Whitehall, June 4, 1851.

THE following Address of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland having been transmitted by Robert Montgomery Lord

Belhaven, Her Majesty's Commissioner, to the Right Honourable Sir George Grey, one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, has been by him presented to the Queen; which Address Her Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously:

To the QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, the Ministers and Elders of the Church of Scotland, convened in this General Assembly, have received with profound respect and gratitude, the gracious letter which your Majesty has been pleased to address to us, expressive of unfeigned satisfaction on the occasion of our present meeting.

We humbly trust that, under the guidance of the Divine Wisdom, our proceedings will be so conducted as in no degree to impair the reliance which your Majesty has heretofore placed on the proofs given in time past by Assemblies of this Church, of loyalty to your Royal Person, and of prudence in their deliberations,—and it is our most earnest desire that we may be enabled to fulfil your Majesty's expectation of our strenuous endeavours to discharge our important functions in a manner calculated to promote the interests of the Protestant Religion, and the moral and religious welfare of the people committed to our charge.

It is to every one of us a source of unmingled gratification to receive in such emphatic terms, your Majesty's renewed assurance of countenance and support to the Church of Scotland, and of your determination to maintain it in the full possession of all its rights and privileges; and we pray that, under God's blessing, this National

Church, which has long flourished under the protection of a race of Monarchs, from which your Majesty is sprung, may ever continue to be the means of upholding and extending the knowledge and the influence of true religion.

We regard the renewed appointment of the Right Honourable Lord Belhaven to the office of your Majesty's Representative and High Commissioner, as a special token of your Majesty's good will and attachment to this Church, of which his Lordship has long proved himself to be a devoted, zealous, and stedfast friend.

We have received with deep gratitude your Majesty's Royal Warrant for two thousand pounds to be appropriated to the reformation of the Highlands and Islands; and it will be a great satisfaction to us to apply this munificent grant so as to advance the pious and beneficent purposes for which it has been graciously conferred.

That the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Governor among the Nations, and the King and Head of the Church, may multiply to our beloved Queen, to the Prince Albert, the Prince of Wales, and all the Royal Family, the most precious of earthly satisfactions, along with the spiritual blessings in heavenly places in Christ, which have been promised as the everlasting inheritance of the saints in the Kingdom of Glory, is the humble and fervent prayer of, may it please your Majesty, your Majesty's most faithful, loyal, and obedient subjects.

The Ministers and Elders of the Church of Scotland met in this General Assembly.

Signed in our name, in our presence, and at our appointment, by John MacLeod, Moderator.

John Heron Maxwell Stuart, Gent. Dated 27th June 1851.
James Vertue, Gent. Dated 27th June 1851.

Admiralty, 25th June 1851.

Her Majesty, by Her Order in Council of June 25th, 1851, having been graciously pleased to sanction certain arrangements proposed by the Board of Admiralty, with a view to the general benefit of the Naval Service, and, at the same time, the ultimate reduction of the present charge for half-pay, the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty hereby give notice of the mode in which the arrangements in question will be carried into effect.

The number of Flag Officers will in future be reduced to 99, exclusive of Admirals of the Fleet, of these, 21 to be Admirals, 27 Vice Admirals, and 51 Rear Admirals: this reduction will be effected as follows, viz:—

1st. By removing to a Reserved Half-pay List those Officers now on the Active List, who have not served for their Flag, under the Order in Council of 30th June 1827. These Officers will receive, as at present, the Half-pay of Rear Admirals, but will be allowed the same advantage of rising in rank as if they had remained on the Active List.

2nd. By awarding ten Retired Service Pensions, of £150 each, to such Flag Officers as are either above 70 years of age, or are physically incapable of further Active Service; such Officers to be placed on the Reserved List, and the vacancies occasioned by death to be filled up from the Active List. These pensions will not be held in addition to the Good Service Pension.

CAPTAINS.

The number of Captains on the Active List will be reduced to a number not permanently exceeding 350, and the reduction shall be effected as follows, viz.:—

1st. As vacancies occur on the Active List of Flag Officers, the Captain first in Seniority, who has served for his Flag, will be promoted; reserving, however, Her Majesty's undoubted right of selection. Those Captains who rise to their Flags, and who have not so served, will be placed on the Reserved Half-pay List, rising in rank as at present, but with the Half-pay only of Rear Admirals.

2nd. By keeping up the Retirement of 1846, to the number of 200, to be effected by permitting Captains who are above 55 years of age, and who have been on the Captain's List for ten years, to be eligible for retirement. The Retirement will be so kept up to 200 until the List of Captains shall be reduced to 350; the Retired List then to be diminished by only retiring one in two vacancies until it shall be reduced to 100.

3rd. By observing the rule of promotion, as it is now in force, of promoting one in three vacancies, except in special and individual cases, until the number is reduced to 350.

While my Lords have recommended the abandonment of the system of brevet promotion in future, they are nevertheless desirous of meeting the claims of old Officers who have served long and well, and who seek their promotion rather as a reward for past services, than in the expectation of further employment. To meet these claims equitably, and at the same time not to fill the Active List with Officers who cannot long continue fit for service, their Lordships will promote by selection 50 Commanders to the rank of Captains. These Officers will be placed on reserved Half-pay. Of these 50, 20 will be selected in the present year, and 10 in each succeeding year, until the number reaches 50, when the vacancies only will be filled up.

COMMANDERS.

The number of Commanders on the Active List will be reduced to a number not permanently exceeding 450, and the reduction will be effected thus :—

1st. By selecting 50 Commanders to be Captains, as above specified.

2nd. By increasing to 100 the List of Commanders promoted to the rank of Retired Captain under the Order in Council of 1840, and keeping such Retirement open until the number of Commanders on the Active List is reduced to 450.

3rd. By placing on Reserved Half-pay all Commanders who have not served afloat, or in the Packet or Revenue Service, within 20 years, or who are physically incapable of service; and by continuing from time to time to remove such officers from the Active List to Reserved Half-pay. Officers, who may be thus placed on Reserved Half-pay, will be allowed to retain all the advantages they now enjoy of rising in pay or rank, or of receiving the Greenwich Out-Pension.

4th. The system of promoting by brevet will be abandoned. 50 Lieutenants, however, will be promoted by selection to the rank of Commander, to be placed on Reserved Half-pay, in the same manner as specified in the case of Commanders promoted to be Captains.

5th. By observing the rule of promotion of one in three vacancies (except in special and individual cases), as now in force, until the number on the Active List shall be reduced to 450.

LIEUTENANTS.

The number of Lieutenants on the Active List will be reduced to a number not permanently exceeding 1200, viz:—

1st. By the promotion of 50 Lieutenants by selection, as above stated.

2nd. By placing on the Reserved Half-pay List all Lieutenants who have not served afloat, or in the Packet or Revenue Service, within 20 years, and all such as are physically unable to serve; and by removing, from time to time, such Officers from the Active to the Reserved Half-pay List, reserving to them, as in the case of Commanders, all the advantages they now enjoy of rising in pay or rank, or of receiving the Greenwich Out-Pension.

3rd. By keeping up the rule of promoting one Officer in three vacancies (except in special and individual cases), till the number of Lieutenants on the Active List shall be reduced to 1200.

4th. No promotion of Mates to be Lieutenants will hereafter be made by brevet; but whereas, in case of War, or of emergency, Her Majesty may be pleased, by Her Order in Council, to call such Officers from the Reserved List into Active Service, Her Majesty has been pleased to approve that such Officers, as may be so employed, shall be in all respects entitled to the pay and emoluments of their respective ranks on the Active List.

By command of their Lordships,

At the Court at Buckingham-Palace, the 7th day of August 1851,

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

THIS day the Right Honourable George Augustus Constantine Henry Phipps (commonly called the Earl of Mulgrave), and the Right Honourable Laurence Sulivan, were by Her Majesty's command sworn of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, and took their respective places at the Board accordingly.

FROM THE

LONDON GAZETTE of AUGUST 12, 1851.

Buckingham-Palace, August 8, 1851.

THIS day Her Majesty, accompanied by His Royal Highness Prince Albert, proceeded in state from Buckingham-Palace to the House of Peers, where she arrived soon after two o'clock; and was received on alighting from her state coach, by the Lord Chancellor, the Lord President of the Council, the Lord Privy Seal, Sir Augustus Clifford, Bart. C.B. Deputy Great Chamberlain, (in the absence of the Lord Willoughby de Eresby), the Lord Steward of the Household, the Duke of Wellington, Garter King of Arms, and the Yeoman Usher of the Black Rod, and proceeded to the robing-room in the customary manner.

Her Majesty was there robed, and the procession moved into the House in the usual order;—the sword of state was borne by the Duke of Wellington, the cap of maintenance by the Marquess of Winchester, and the crown by the Marquess of Lansdowne.

cordingly, Her Majesty was pleased to give the Royal Assent to

An Act to apply a sum out of the Consolidated Fund, and certain other sums, to the service of the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-one, and to appropriate the supplies granted in this session of Parliament.

An Act to amend the Acts relating to the Merchant Seamen's Fund, and to provide for winding up the said fund, and for the better management thereof in the meantime.

An Act to facilitate the management and improvement of episcopal and capitular estates in England.

An Act for appointing Commissioners to inquire into the existence of bribery in the borough of St. Albans.

An Act to continue an Act of the fourteenth year of Her Majesty for charging the maintenance of certain poor persons in unions in England and Wales upon the common fund, and to make certain amendments in the laws for the relief of the poor.

An Act to confirm certain provisional orders of the General Board of Health.

An Act to amend the Acts relating to the vend and delivery of coals in London and Westminster, and in certain parts of the adjacent counties, and to allow a drawback on coals conveyed beyond certain limits.

And one private Act.

After which Her Majesty was pleased to deliver the following most gracious speech to both Houses of Parliament :

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

I AM glad to be able to release you from your attendance in Parliament, and I thank you for the diligence with which you have performed your laborious duties.

I continue to maintain the most friendly relations with foreign powers.

I am happy to be able to congratulate you on the very considerable diminution which has taken place in the African and Brazilian Slave Trade. The exertions of my squadrons on the coasts of Africa and Brazil, assisted by the vigilance of the cruizers of France and of the United States, and aided by the co-operation of the Brazilian government, have mainly contributed to this result.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

I thank you for the readiness with which you have granted the supplies necessary for the service of the year.

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

It is satisfactory to observe, that notwithstanding very large reductions of taxes, the revenue for the past year considerably exceeded the public expenditure for the same period.

I am rejoiced to find that you have thereby been enabled to relieve my people from an impost which restricted the enjoyment of light and air in their dwellings. I trust that this enactment, with others to which your attention has been and will be directed, will contribute to the health and comfort of my subjects.

I thank you for the assiduity with which you have applied yourselves to the consideration of a measure framed for the purpose of checking the undue assumption of ecclesiastical titles conferred by a foreign power.

It gives me the highest satisfaction to find, that, while repelling unfounded claims, you have maintained inviolate the great principles of religious liberty so happily established among us.

The attention you have bestowed on the administration of justice in the courts of law and equity will, I trust, prove beneficial, and lead to further improvements.

I have willingly given my consent to a Bill relating to the administration of the land revenues of the Crown, which will, I hope, conduce to the better management of that department, and at the same time tend to the promotion of works of public utility.

It has been very gratifying to me, on an occasion which has brought many foreigners to this country, to observe the spirit of kindness and goodwill which so generally prevailed.

It is my anxious desire to promote among nations the cultivation of all those arts which are fostered by peace, and which in their turn contribute to maintain the peace of the world.

In closing the present session it is with feelings of gratitude to Almighty God that I acknowledge the general spirit of loyalty and willing obedience to the law which animates my people. Such a spirit is the best security at once for the progress and the stability of our free and happy institutions.

Then the Lord Chancellor, by Her Majesty's command, said,

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

It is Her Majesty's royal will and pleasure, that this Parliament be prorogued to Thursday the fourth day of September next, to be then here holden; and this Parliament is accordingly prorogued to Thursday the fourth day of September next.

first mentioned Act, and to open such letters, and either to return them to the senders thereof, or to forward them to the places of their destination, charged in either case with such rates of postage as the Postmaster-General, with the consent of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, shall from time to time direct.

Now we, the undersigned, being two of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, do, in exercise of the powers reserved to us in and by the said before-mentioned Acts, or either of them, and of all other powers enabling us in this behalf, by this warrant under our hands, order and direct that printed books, printed magazines, printed reviews, printed pamphlets (whether British, colonial, or foreign), may from henceforth be transmitted by the post, between any part of the United Kingdom and the province of Nova Scotia, subject to the several regulations and rates hereinafter contained (that is to say),

And on every such packet, if exceeding one pound, and not exceeding two pounds in weight, there shall be charged and taken one uniform rate of postage of two shillings.

And on every such packet, if exceeding two pounds, and not exceeding three pounds in weight, there shall be charged and taken one uniform rate of postage of three shillings.

And for every additional one pound in weight of any such packet above the weight of three pounds, there shall be charged and taken an additional rate of postage of one shilling, and every fraction of such additional pound shall be charged as an additional pound.

And we further order and direct, that no such packet, if containing more than one printed book, or printed magazine, or printed review, or printed pamphlet, or containing any paper or thing besides a printed book. printed magazine, printed review, or printed pamphlet, or containing any printed book, printed magazine, printed review, or printed pamphlet, the several sheets or parts of which, when more than one, shall not be sewed or bound together, or which packet, in length, or breadth, or width, or depth, shall exceed the dimensions of two feet, or twenty-four inches, shall be forwarded by the post under the provisions aforesaid.

And we further order and direct, that as to any packet hereinbefore authorized to be sent by the post under the provisions aforesaid, which shall be posted in the United Kingdom, the postage thereof shall in every case be prepaid at the time of the same being posted, not in money, but by being duly stamped with the proper postage stamp or stamps affixed thereto, which stamp or stamps shall in every case be affixed, or appear on the outside of every such packet, near the address, and shall be of the value or amount of the postage duty payable thereon, under or by virtue of this warrant; and as to any such packet posted in Nova Scotia, the postage thereof shall in every case be prepaid, either in money or by the proper postage stamp or stamps being affixed thereto, at the time of the same being posted.

And we further order and direct, that every such packet shall be sent without a cover, or in a cover or envelope open at the ends or sides, and shall contain printed matter only with the binding thereof, and there shall be no writing or marks upon the cover or envelope thereof, or upon or within any part of the contents thereof, other than the name and address of the person to whom the packet shall be sent.

And in order to prevent any obstacles to the due and regular transmission of letters by the post, we further direct that it shall be lawful for any officer of the Post-office in the United Kingdom to delay the transmission of any packet posted or forwarded by the post under the provisions of this warrant, either for the space of twenty-four hours from the time at which (or at his option until the dispatch of the mail next after that by which) the same ought otherwise to have been forwarded by him.

And we further direct that nothing hereinbefore contained shall be construed to interfere with or affect the transmission by the post of printed votes and proceedings of the Imperial Parliament, or of printed votes and proceedings of the Colonial Legislatures, nor of printed papers or other printed publications which are allowed to pass by the post under the newspaper privilege.

And we further order and direct that if any packet sent, or tendered, or delivered in order to be sent by the post under the provisions of this present warrant shall contain any paper or thing besides a printed book, printed magazine, printed review, or printed pamphlet, and the binding thereof, or shall have any writing or marks upon the same, or upon the cover or envelope thereof, except the name and address of the person to whom it is forwarded, or shall not be open at the ends or sides, or shall in length, or breadth, or width, or depth, exceed the dimensions of two feet or twenty-four inches, or shall contain more than one printed book, or printed magazine, or printed review, or printed pamphlet, or shall contain any printed book, printed magazine, printed review, or printed pamphlet, the several sheets or parts of which, when more than one, shall not be sewed or bound together, or if the postage of any such packet posted in the United Kingdom shall not be duly and properly prepaid by stamps when posted, or if the postage of any such packet posted in Nova Scotia shall not be duly and properly prepaid in money or by stamps when posted, the same shall and may be detained and opened at any place in the United Kingdom, and at the option of the Postmaster-General shall be either returned or given up to the sender thereof, or be given up to the person to whom it shall be addressed, or be forwarded to the place of its destination; and any such packet on being so returned, given up, or forwarded, shall be chargeable with the like amount of postage to which it would have been liable as a letter.

And we further direct, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to extend to any packets sent through France, or any other foreign country, to which a transit rate of postage would be payable thereon, nor to any packets sent by private ships.

And we further order and direct, that the term "by the post," used in this warrant, shall, as to the sea conveyance, include the conveyance by packet-boat; and that the several other terms and expressions used in this warrant shall be construed to have the like meaning in all respects as they would have had if inserted in the said Act passed in the fourth year of the reign of Her present Majesty.

Provided lastly, and we do hereby declare and direct, that it shall be lawful for the Commissioners for the time being of Her Majesty's Treasury, on any two of them, by warrant under their hands, at any time hereafter to alter or repeal any of the rates hereby fixed or altered, or the regulations hereby made, and to make and establish any new or other rates or regulations in lieu thereof, and from time to time to appoint at what time the rates that may be payable are to be paid.

Downing-Street, September 15, 1851.

THE following Dispatches, addressed to the Right Honourable Earl Grey, have been received from Lieutenant-General Sir Henry G. W. Smith, Bart. K.G.C.B. Governor of the Cape of Good Hope.

No. 116. King William's Town,
My Lord, 3rd July, 1851.

THE general and combined movement into the Amatola Mountains which I have long had in contemplation has been effected with the success I anticipated, and which I have now the honour to lay before your Lordship.

I directed the 1st Division, under Major-General Somerset, the 2nd Division, under Colonel Mackinnon, and a force of 500 men from Whittlesea, under Captain Tylden, so to post themselves, that these mountain-ranges might be penetrated by four distinct columns converging to a centre, and which was carried out much to my satisfaction; the operations commencing on the 26th and continuing until the 30th ultimo. The combinations were skilfully effected; each column was at its post as directed; mutual support was thus given, and signal success was in consequence the result. I inclose the reports of Major-General Somerset, and of Colonel Mackinnon, who was unfortunately indisposed after the first day's operations, and his valuable services thus lost. This able officer, however, communicated his instructions to Lieutenant-Colonel Michel, upon whom the command devolved, and whose judgment and energy became conspicuous. His report, with those of Lieutenant-Colonels Eyre and Cooper, are annexed, together with the General Order and Government Notice which I issued on the achievement of this important success. They so fully demonstrate the peculiar difficulties and arduous character of this mountain service, that I beg to draw your Lordship's attention to their perusal; and I, at the same time, desire to attract your notice to the marked eulogium passed upon Ensign Robertson, of the Cape Mounted Rifles, captain in command of a detachment of Armstrong's Horse. The success of every patrol invariably involves the gallant conduct of this young and most intrepid officer, in whose rising judgment I place every confidence.

Major-General Somerset speaks in the highest terms of Lieutenant-Colonel Fordyce and the 74th Regiment, recently arrived from England, upon whom the brunt of these operations fell in the 1st Division; and I also desire to draw your Lordship's attention to the ability displayed in command by Lieutenant-Colonel Michel, of the 6th Royal Regiment; to the usual conspicuous gallantry of Lieutenant-Colonel Eyre and the 73rd; and to the conduct of the Royal Marines of Her Majesty's ship "Castor," under their officer, Lieutenant Harris, and attached to the 73rd, which equally merits my commendation. Lieutenant-Colonel Cooper, 45th Regiment, commanded with much ability the column of troops from Fort Cox.

Fifteen hundred head of cattle, 42 horses, and nearly 1000 goats were captured by the 2nd Division, 350 head of cattle by the 1st, and 300 by the force under Captain Tylden; while large stores of corn were destroyed, as well as numerous recently constructed huts. To be compelled thus barbarously to prosecute war, ever cruel in even its most mitigated form, is revolting to the Christian mind. But no other course is open. The feeling with which the European regards his country and his home is, in the case of the Kafir, centered in his herds and flocks, for which he will fight to the last; and the only means of opening a prospect of bringing to a close this harassing and distressing war is to wrest his much-prized cattle from him in the heart of his fastnesses and almost impenetrable forests, into which he drives them for concealment and security. In the midst of these scenes of desolation I am consoled by the fact, that the people are aware that the war was commenced by their chief Sandili; that every prisoner is set at liberty and told that peace and the former harmony which prevailed are our only objects after the due punishment of the war party and their rebellious chiefs; and, more than all, by the gratifying reflection that our troops can be charged with no act of wanton cruelty. Not one instance has been brought to my notice of any outrage having been perpetrated by the ever-humane British soldier, or even by the excited Hottentot or exasperated Fingoe; and this is the more commendable when it is borne in mind that the atrocities committed by the Kafirs at the commencement of the war are fresh in the recollection of our soldiery. Avoiding, on their own part, all wanton excess, they, at the same time, cannot forget the cold-blooded murder of our military villagers, perpetrated under the guise of friendship, or the massacre on the Debe Flats of the seventeen soldiers of the 45th Regiment, who had given no provocation, and with whom their murderers had, for three years, been on terms of the most friendly intercourse.

The success in the Amatolas which I have now reported has, however, had no perceptible effect as regards the termination of hostilities. The people indeed declare, as I learn from information which reaches me from various sources, that they are tired of the struggle, and that our patroles keep them in a state of constant alarm; while the chief Sandili asserts and gives out "that an agent has gone on his account to England, who will procure the restoration of the land which he forfeited in the previous war;" such forfeiture having been the condition on which he obtained his own liberty and that of his "Great Men," who were in confinement with him when I assumed the administration of this Government, and on which peace and tranquillity were given to his people. In proof that an assertion of this kind has been made by Sandili, I annex the copy of a deposition formally made by the chief Toise before the T'Slambie Commissioner, the purport of which is corroborated by various spies in my employ.

My next patrol will be directed against the chiefs Stock and Tola, and the renegade rebel Hottentots, who have located themselves in the Fish River Bush, to intercept my communication with Graham's Town, and to spoil the cattle of the Fingoes around Fort Peddie.

I have, &c.

H. G. SMITH.

The Right Honourable Earl Grey.

P.S.—Since this despatch was closed, I have received a report from Major-General Somerset, that he had continued for some days his operations on the north side of the Amatolas,—another proof of the activity and energy of this experienced officer. I inclose his report in the shape in which I have given it publicity in a General Order.

Camp on the Quisana,
June 28, 1851.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to acquaint you for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, that agreeably to the instructions contained in the Commander-in-Chief's memorandum of the 14th instant, I moved from this camp with the troops under my orders before daylight on the 26th instant.

At dawn, I ascended the western range of the Amatola heights in two columns, and having established the troops on the ridge, I halted preparatory to attacking the position of the enemy in the forest on the northern range of the Amatola, previous to which I proceeded with a detachment of the Cape Mounted Rifles to reconnoitre the position of the enemy along the slope of the Victoria heights; on reaching the southern point of the range, the enemy opened a brisk fire on my party, which was returned by the Cape Mounted Rifles, and was sustained on both sides until the column of the Levies, consisting of the George, Graaff-Reinet, and Fort Beaufort Fingoes, whom I had detached to the right under Captain Heathcote, had been brought up; these

I immediately moved forward, supported by two companies 91st Regiment under Major Forbes, the whole commanded by Lieut.-Colonel Sutton, and the enemy was driven from his position into the valley below.

While these operations were going forward, I returned to my left, and moved the 74th Regiment, Cape Mounted Rifles, European Levy, Kat River Levy, and Alice and Port Elizabeth Fingoe Corps, down the valley into the Amatola basin. Perceiving the enemy's force of Kafirs and rebel Hottentots strongly posted along the lower ridges under the northern range of the Amatola, and collected in a strong body on the extreme point of the ridge, partly concealed, and covered by the high rocks and stones; I directed Lieutenant-Colonel Fordyce to move his regiment on to the attack—this movement being flanked by the Alice and Port Elizabeth Fingoes under Captains Cumbers and Ayliff.

The enemy commenced a brisk fire on the advancing troops and Fingoes, both from the forest and the ridge—the 74th Highlanders steadily moving forward and deploying into line under fire, extended and opened its fire on the enemy, who still kept up a galling fire on the troops, and continued it until the position was most gallantly carried, and the regiment placed in position on the ridge—not, however, I regret to say, without some loss on our side, three men of the 74th Highlanders being killed, and one officer and nine men wounded.

The force under Lieutenant-Colonel Sutton had in the meantime driven the enemy from his position on the lower range into the valley, and up the ridges of the Victoria heights, but with the loss of three men killed of the George Levy, and five Fingoes severely wounded, two of them since dead.

The Fort Beaufort Fingoes having again rejoined me, I moved the Kat River Levy, European Levy, and Fort Beaufort Fingoes up the ridges of the northern range of the Amatola, proceeding also to that point myself with the Cape Mounted Rifles and Mounted George Levy, at which point I met the 74th Regiment, where Lieutenant-Colonel Fordyce had again been strongly attacked by the enemy from a strip of forest bush which intersected the ridges at that point, and where two of his gallant soldiers were killed.

Having assembled the troops at this point, it being then 1 o'clock, I halted the troops to refresh, and proceeded myself to reconnoitre the ground and country at the head of the Zanooka or Wolf River: on the ridge at the left bank of the Zanooka, I observed a reconnoitring party of the Cape Mounted Rifles, from, I imagine, one of the detached columns from Head-Quarters. On my returning to where I had left the troops, some of the rebels, I understood, had called out that they wished to surrender. Lieutenant-Colonel Sutton rode out to hear what they had to say, when they stated that many of them wished to come away but were afraid, that they wished time to collect their people, that they might consult and all come together, and they requested a week. I caused them to be informed that they must surrender immediately, and that I would only give them half an hour.

At the expiration of the time, the troops being refreshed, I moved the 74th Regiment again upon their position, flanked by the Fort Beaufort Fingoes; Lieutenant-Colonel Fordyce took the opportunity to inter two men of the 74th, who had fallen, and then moved on; some sharp firing took place, but the enemy retired into the forest and up the mountains, and abandoned the position; one soldier of the 74th Regiment, was, I am sorry to say, severely wounded upon this occasion. I then retired the troops into the Amatola valley, and at 5 p.m. bivouacked for the night.

On the morning of the 27th instant, I made arrangements for conveying the wounded to my camp on the Quisana, which occupied some time.

At 12 o'clock I moved the force in three columns up the eastern range of the Amatola mountain, the enemy showing in small bodies on several points.

The ascent of the mountain is precipitous and very difficult; crossing the ridge I moved the troops down the valley to the sources of the Zanooka, and ordered them to encamp, taking the Cape Mounted Rifles, and Kat River Levy and Alice Fingoes with me—I proceeded along the ridges towards the head of the Ligney stream, I observed a reconnoitring party of the enemy, posted in the forest bush which intersects the ridge near Mount Macdonald; when moving up with the Cape Mounted Rifles we were briskly attacked, but the enemy was driven back by a sharp fire from the Cape Mounted Rifles, and the levies and Fingoes then coming up, the enemy was driven off, and descended into the valley of the Keiskamma;—it being then dusk, I returned and bivouacked for the night in the Zanooka valley—during these operations I saw nothing of any force from Fort Cox.

On the morning of the 28th instant, moving shortly after sunrise, I proceeded with the force towards Mount Macdonald, where I reached at 10 a.m., detaching the corps of levies into the valley of the Zanooka to intercept the enemy's cattle.

I observed small detached parties of the enemy at some distance, who descended into the valley of the Keiskamma, but I observed no troops or any force below in the vallies; the enemy made no show of resistance.

I proceeded with the Cape Mounted Rifles, and occupied the high point of the mountain at the head of the Ligny, while the levies passed down the Zanooka, and brought out about 350 head of cattle, chiefly cows and calves, all very poor. I returned with the troops along the ridges, leaving the two companies of the 91st Regiment to cover the return of the levies to the bivouack, which was done leisurely, leaving no part unscoured. While halted on the Amatola range, a shot was fired from a high point of the forest, by which, I regret to say, Captain Melville, of the George Levy, was severely wounded through the arm;—the troops all assembled from their several points of operations shortly after dusk.

I am of opinion, from the appearance of the cattle kraals, that the great body of the Kafir cattle have been sent away some time ago—there is no grass or herbage of any kind in the Amatola or Zanooka valleys, and not sufficient grass even for horses—the cattle captured yesterday are miserably poor and starved.

Late last evening a Hottentot from the rebel camp came in and surrendered; he brought me a message to say that a large body of the rebels would surrender in two days.

Having expended all my provisions, and there being no grass whatever for the horses, I returned to my camp this morning.

I have much pleasure in bringing to the Commander-in-Chief's notice, the active, zealous, and gallant conduct of the troops and levies during the three days' operations in the mountains and rugged passes of the Amatola and Zanooka ranges: a large tract of most difficult and intersected country was traversed by the troops.

The gallant attack made by the 74th Regiment under Lieutenant-Colonel Fordyce, upon the enemy's position, which it carried, surmounting every obstacle under a brisk and galling fire from the enemy, was my admiration, and the manner in which the Fingoes under their several commanders, advanced in the flanks, was most spirited.

The attack made by the levies under Captains Heathcote and Melville, and Captain Verity, who followed the enemy and drove him off his position on the Victoria heights, was most gallantly executed; and I have greatly to regret the loss of Captain Melville's services, I fear for some time.

To the officers commanding corps and detachments, Lieutenant-Colonel Fordyce, commanding 74th Highlanders, and commanding my first brigade; Lieutenant-Colonel Sutton, C.M.R. commanding my second brigade; Major Forbes, commanding the detachment 91st Regiment; and Major Somerset, C.M.R. commanding the cavalry, I am greatly indebted for their exertions and assistance.

To the officers commanding levies—Captain Stevenson, commanding first European levy; Captains Heathcote, Melville, and Hobbs, all commanding their several corps of levies; as well as to Captains Cumbers, Verity, and Ayliff, commanding the Fingoe levies, I have to express my thanks and approbation.

Every care and attention was paid to the wounded by the medical officers in the field, Dr. Fraser, Dr. Booth, Dr. Barclay, and Dr. Black; and I beg in an especial manner to bring the gallantry and excellent conduct of all the officers, troops, and levies, under the Commander-in-Chief's notice.

It is not possible, when a series of operations are taken covering a large extent of mountainous and difficult country, to notice in any particular manner the conduct of individual corps where all have merited approbation, but I must on this occasion bring more particularly the 74th Regiment, commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel Fordyce, under the Commander-in-Chief's notice; this regiment being so recently landed from a long sea voyage, being at once brought into the field in the winter season, and having been early engaged against the enemy, and now a second time sharply engaged, ascending a high mountain under a galling fire, and carrying his position at every point.

I am not aware of what the enemy's loss was, the contiguity of the forest having given them every advantage of carrying off their killed and wounded: they were observed conveying them into the bush.

I have to return my best thanks to Lieutenant Jessie, my Deputy Quarter-Master-General; Lieutenant Bell, C.M.R. my Field Adjutant, and Lieutenant Green, my Aide-de-Camp, who rendered me every assistance.

I have, &c.

H. SOMERSET,
Major-General.

Lieutenant-Colonel Cloete, C.B., K. H.,
Deputy Quarter-Master-General.

I annex a Return of the killed and wounded:—

74th Regiment.—3 rank and file killed; 1 officer, Lieutenant W. W. J. Bruce, and 9 rank and file, wounded.

J. A. FRASER, M.D.
Surgeon, 74th Regiment.

Levies.—1 serjeant and 2 rank and file, killed; 1 officer, Captain Melville, and 4 rank and file, wounded—2 mortally.

No. 2.

King William's Town,
July 1, 1851.

SIR,

IN pursuance of your Excellency's instructions I moved from this station on the 24th ultimo, with the following force:—

6th Regiment	337
73rd Regiment	420
Royal Marines	47
Catty's Riflemen	51
Cape Mounted Riflemen	120
Armstrong's Horse	80
Swellendam Levy	250
Clanwilliam Levy	330
Fingoes	170
In all	2,055 men.

I entered the mountain range by Bailey's grave, and in the afternoon of that day I reached the Quilly Quilly River, where I bivouacked.

On the 25th ult. I moved a few miles higher up the Quilly Quilly.

On the 25th ult., leaving about 300 men for the protection of my supply waggons, I formed the remainder of the division into two columns of about equal strength, and marched at day-break into the mountains.

I proceeded with one column along a wooded ridge on the left bank of the Keiskamma, to the confluence of that river with the Tsimuka, or Wolf river; at this point we surprised a drove of about fifty cattle. I had expected to find Lieutenant-Colonel Cooper with a patrol from Fort Cox at this point, but not finding him there I proceeded down the Keiskamma in search of him. I communicated with him near the foot of the western branch of Mount Macdonald, and instructed him to patrol before day-break on the 28th and 29th towards the confluence of the Keiskamma and Wolf, to serve as a diversion to Major-General Somerset, and to prevent the escape of cattle down the valley.

I then proceeded to the junction of the Keiskamma and Quilly Quilly, and up the latter valley to my camp. A few Kafirs followed us out of the bush when near the camp, but their fire was soon silenced, and they were driven off by the 73rd Regiment.

The other column, under Lieutenant-Colonel Michell, 6th Regiment, proceeded into the Keiskamma Hoek, the cavalry being detached to the right, along the Gulu Valley, on to the ridge which separates the Gulu from the Wolf Valley. They saw no cattle within reach, and met with no serious opposition. The cavalry of this column reported having seen cattle out of the Gulu Valley. Lieutenant-Colonel Michell returned to the camp in the evening.

On the 27th ult. no operations took place, and the men were allowed to rest.

On the 28th ultimo, being unable from illness to quit the camp myself, I directed Lieutenant-Colonel Michell to take all the available men of the division and to make a night march for the purpose of intercepting the cattle which his cavalry had seen on the 20th ultimo.

I enclose his report of this service, and the reports of Lieutenant-Colonel Eyre, and Captain

Robertson, whom he detached; it was most ably and efficiently performed, and resulted in the capture of upwards of 1,500 cattle and 40 horses.

On the 30th ultimo I returned to King William's Town, bringing the captured cattle safely in.

During the operations above detailed, the troops under the command of Major-General Somerset were seen scouring the ridges between the Amatola and Wolf valley. By these combined movements the enemy was harassed at all points, and the little resistance we experienced showed how completely he was paralyzed.

Our casualties during these operations amount to one private 73rd Regiment wounded, and four horses missing.

I beg leave to bring to your Excellency's favourable notice the efficient conduct of the officers commanding the different corps, viz: Lieutenant-Colonel Michell, commanding 6th Regiment; Lieutenant-Colonel Eyre, commanding 73rd Regiment; Lieutenant-Colonel Napier, commanding Cape Mounted Riflemen; Lieutenant Harris, commanding the Royal Marines; Captain Catty, commanding the provisional Rifle Company; Captain Robertson, commanding the Mounted Levy; Captain Ayliff, commanding the 2nd Corps of Native Levies, and Captains Toght, Fielding, Shaw, and Tainton, commanding respectively the Swellendam, Genadendal, Clanwilliam, and Fingoe Levies.

I beg also to mention the services of Captain Faunce, Brigade, and Lieutenant Stokes, Deputy Assistant Quarter-Master General.

I have, &c.

GEO. MACKINNON,
Colonel.

His Excellency Lieutenant-General
Sir H. G. Smith, Bart. G.C.B.

Camp at the Umbigeni,
July 1, 1851.

SIR,

HAVING received instructions from you to proceed on a patrol on the 28th June towards the Gulu Mountains, and as with the utmost liberality you had given me authority to arrange and carry out any plan that I might choose to adopt, I marched at 12 o'clock at night with the following force:—

116	Cape Corps.
84	Armstrong's Horse.
41	R. Marines.
44	Riflemen.
287	6th Regiment.
350	73rd Regiment.
232	Swellendam Levy.
195	Genadendal Levy.
257	Clanwilliam Levy.
171	Fingoes.
1777	Total.

From the Gulu there are only 4 mountain outlets. I therefore arranged that Captain Robertson with his horse should ascend the craggy and difficult ascent of the Amatolas to the right of the Gulu, and that Colonel Napier should ascend to the left, so that each party should arrive at the top about daylight. Colonel Napier unfortunately was not taken by his guide to the exact point I had contemplated, and in consequence he was deprived of the satisfaction of capturing several large droves of cattle which were driven out of the mountain. He, however, dispatched an advance guard under Captain Campbell, who succeeded in capturing a few head.

Of Captain Robertson's (Report enclosed) conduct in this affair I am in doubt which part most to admire, whether his decision in leaving a party to secure the drove of cattle in the krantzes, feeling sure that they could hold them until succour arrived, or his indefatigable energy in carrying out the orders I had given him, and even exceeding them, by covering eventually the 3rd pass, which was not originally within his share of the combination.

Having marched until daylight with the infantry, I detached Colonel Eyre, with about 750 men, up the right ridge of the Gulu. His report, which I herewith enclose, will detail his portion of the day's proceedings. Colonel Eyre's promptitude in supporting Captain Darnell's party deserves the highest commendation. I do not descant on the conduct of Captain Darnell, as Colonel Eyre's report, who witnessed the whole affair, shows how admirably he must have behaved. In such commendation I heartily concur.

With the remainder of the force I marched up the gorge of the Gulu, into a deep nest of kloofs, a fastness which a few resolute men might hold against a host. At the entrance of the innermost kloof my advance guard was received with a volley from a few men on the front and right, at a few paces distance with, I am happy to say, no result. The men dashed into the bush, and held it for an hour or two, whilst the Fingoes drove out several large herds of cattle and goats.

We then moved over tremendous steeps to a distant spur of the Gulu, where we encamped for the night. During the capture of the cattle, the Kafirs amused themselves with taking a few long shots at the men. The conduct of the men, who had marched with little intermission from twelve at night until five in the evening, without food, was admirable.

In this affair, the Kaffirs were entirely taken by surprise; the result has been the capture of 1,500 cattle, 500 goats, and 22 horses.

On the 29th, we marched back to your camp. On approaching the Quilly Quilly Mountain, we perceived a body of about 300 Kafirs on our left, and a smaller body on the right. I sent Colonel Eyre, with the 73rd, to the left of the road, who, by his admirable mode of handling his troops, did not permit the Kafirs to come fairly into action. They skirmished, however, with the 73rd for about an hour in the dense bush.

I despatched the remainder of the troops to the right, with the exception of the 6th, who covered the rear, and having seized on every point, the cattle and baggage moved on to the camp without a shot fired at them. The Kafirs were not in numbers sufficient to attack the right, and being held in check by the Marines, who were planted on a commanding abutting rock, skirmished but feebly with the 6th and Rifle Company, who behaved very steadily and well under their respective commanders. The Kafirs followed the troops till they reached the open country.

Some few Kafirs were killed in the two days' patrol, and on our side one man 73rd wounded, and three horses; these and four horses also were lost by rolling down the mountains, and either breaking their necks or being captured by the Kafirs.

Nothing could exceed the excellent spirits with which both English and Natives did their duty.

I trust you will bring to the notice of his Excellency the Commander-in-Chief those to whom my especial thanks are due.

To Colonel Eyre commanding 73rd Regiment; Colonel Napier commanding Cape Corps; Captain Blanckley commanding 6th Regiment; Captain Robertson commanding Armstrong's Horse;

Lieutenant Harris commanding Royal Marines; Captain Catty, 6th, commanding Rifle Corps; Captain Faunce, Brigade-Major; Lieutenant Stokes, Royal Engineers, Deputy Assistant Quartermaster-General; Lieutenant Pasly, Royal Artillery, and Quartermaster Croker, 6th Regiment, both of whom were acting as my Aides-de-Camp, and were of especial service. Captain Darnell commanding Armstrong's Horse; Captain Fielding commanding Genadendal Levy; Captain Shaw commanding Clanwilliam Levy; Captain Tainton commanding Fingoes; Dr. Gibb, Medical Staff; also Captain Ayliff commanding the Levies, and Captain Cumming of the Swellendam Levy, who were each of particular service to me. I beg also to concur in the particular recommendations made by Lieutenant-Colonel Eyre in his report.

I have, &c.

J. MICHELL, Lieut.-Colonel,
Commanding Patrol.

To Colonel Mackinnon, C.B.
Commanding in Kaffraria.

Camp, Quilli Quilli,
June 29, 1851.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to report that, agreeable to your instructions, I moved from camp at 12 o'clock on the night of the 27th ultimo, with 80 men of Armstrong's Horse, and, in company with the Cape Mounted Rifles, proceeded through the Keiskamma Hoek to the Gulu River. Being here detached from the Cape Mounted Rifles, I moved up the Gulu valley, and ascended the Amatola ridge by the foot-path leading to the Windvogleberg. Shortly after daylight, observing large quantities of cattle near the top of the Gulu Mountain, I detached Captain Darnell, with 25 men, to the left, to prevent their escape in that direction, and proceeding with the remainder of the men to the top of the Gulu Mountain, captured, without much opposition, upwards of 500 head of cattle. Captain Darnell and his party, lower down the mountain, succeeded in capturing nearly 300 head of cattle and 10 or 12 horses, and in killing and wounding several Kafirs.

He afterwards joined the division of infantry under Lieutenant-Colonel Eyre.

After halting for some short time on the top of the Gulu Mountain, I drove the cattle on to the top of the more open ridge, and leaving a guard with them, I gallopped over to the back of the Wolf Mountain, and here captured 150 head of cattle and several horses, the remainder of the cattle being driven down the mountain in the direction of the infantry. After off-saddling for half-an-hour, finding myself in possession of nearly 700 head of cattle and 10 horses, I drove them down the side of the Wolf Mountain, and joined the division of infantry under your command.

I have, &c.

P. ROBERTSON,
Captain Armstrong's Horse.

Lieutenant-Colonel Michell,
Commanding Division.

No. 4.

Camp on the Umdizini River,
June 30, 1851.

SIR,

IN pursuance of instructions which I had the honour to receive direct from yourself, I proceeded on the morning of the 28th instant, with the following force:—

350 Rank and File, 73rd Regiment,
15 Cape Mounted Rifles,
Swellendam Levy,
Clanwillian Levy,
70 Fingoes,

from the point of our separation, viz., at the junction of the Kata and Umtata Rivers, where their united waters form the Gulu River, to ascend the steep ridge which divides those rivers, directing my course towards the Gulu mountain. On reaching the summit of this ridge, I observed, in the deep valley on my left, herds of cattle driving apparently to the Wolf mountain; while on my right I perceived a party of horsemen in a most critical position, engaged with the enemy nearly at the summit of the Gulu mountain. Thinking it probable that the cattle on my left, if headed, would endeavour to escape over the ridge on which I stood, it being in the direct line to the Kabousie Neck, I left there a company of the 73rd under Captain Campbell, and a portion of the levies, to secure that position, while with the remainder of my force I proceeded to support the party of horsemen on my right. This party, as I afterwards discovered, was a portion of Armstrong's Horse under Captain Darnell, which had been detached by Captain Robertson in the early part of the morning in pursuit of cattle, while that indefatigable officer himself pursued his difficult path round the opposite or northern side of the Gulu mountain, and thence proceeded to crown the table land which forms the connecting link between the Gulu and Wolf mountains, succeeded not only in capturing numerous cattle himself, but mainly contributed indirectly to the capture of all that subsequently fell into our hands. Captain Darnell's position appeared to be one of imminent peril. He had pursued a herd of cattle almost to the summit of the mountain along a narrow grassy ledge at the foot of the stupendous krantz which forms on this side the summit of the Gulu mountain, and had driven them to a spot from whence there was no egress. The cattle appeared literally clinging to the perpendicular krantz, while on the craggy heights overlooking this position, I observed the enemy collecting in some force behind the rocks, and evidently intent on waylaying the party on its return. I lost no time in sending to their assistance every man whom, from the rapidity of our march, I could muster. About a hundred men of the 73rd under Major Pinckney, portion of the Fingoes under Captain Tainton, and of the Clanwilliam Levy under Captain Shaw, immediately and rapidly ascended the steep acclivity of the mountain on our right; while on our left a portion of the Swellendam Levy under Captain Toght, with great agility clomb up the perpendicular krantz, in order to turn and head the cattle. The enemy was rapidly repulsed, and Captain Darnell and his gallant band were enabled to extricate themselves from a position as critical and singular perhaps as ever befel adventurers in Kafir warfare, bringing with them 286 head of fine cattle, and sustaining no casualties beyond that of three horses wounded.

I beg to bring to the notice of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief the conduct of Captain Darnell on this occasion. In the performance of his duty he pursued his prey with admirable pertinacity, in spite of the natural obstacles of the ground, and the presence of the enemy, relying with confidence on a support which he knew to be sure, though distant. This duty being performed, I immediately turned my steps to the left, and proceeded to work my way through a succession of kloofs at the head of the valley, steep and thickly studded with bush, through which there was not even a Kafir's path perceptible. We reached the farthest tongue of land which overlooked the main channel of the valley; beyond this it was impossible to proceed. We captured in the kloofs 286 head of cattle, which would have escaped over the table ridge but for the presence of Captain Robertson. Our division captured in all 572 head of cattle,—horses, and several hundred goats. The conduct of all—troops and levies—was admirable. The men marched incessantly for fourteen hours, and during the latter six hours they toiled up and down heights, and through kloofs all but inaccessible; but their good will and cheerfulness never deserted them. I beg particularly to express my thanks to the following officers for the assistance they afforded me in this patrol, viz., Major Pinckney, 73rd, Lieutenant Studdert, commanding a detachment of Cape Mounted Rifles, Captain Shaw, commanding Clanwilliam Levy, Captain Toght, commanding Swellendam Levy, Captain Tainton, commanding Fingoes, Lieutenant Stokes, Royal Engineers, Deputy Adjutant-Quarter-Master-General, and Lieutenant Gawler, 73rd Regiment, my acting Adjutant. I have, &c.

W. EYRE,
Lieutenant-Colonel, 73rd Regt.
Commanding.

Lieutenant-Colonel Mitchell, 6th Regiment,
Commanding Patrol.

SIR, Fort Cox, July 1, 1851.

I HAVE the honour to forward herewith, the enclosed diaries of patrols furnished between the 20th and 30th June from the Garrison of Fort Cox, under my command, and trust that I have carried out the wishes and views of his Excellency the Commander-in-Chief. The regular troops and levies conducted themselves admirably, and deserve my best thanks.

I would wish to bring to the notice of his Excellency, Major Kyle, for his cordial and zealous assistance at all times; also Captain Middlemore, commanding 91st Regt.; and to Comdt. Davies, for the activity with which he carries out my views, and for the able manner in which he directed the levies.

I would also wish to bring to the particular notice of his Excellency, Ensign Walker, who has at all times acted as Adjutant to me.

I have, &c.,
H. COOPER,
Lieutenant-Colonel 45th Regt.,
Commanding Fort Cox.

Col. Mackinnon. C. B.,

GENERAL ORDERS.

Head-Quarters, King William's Town,
No. 126. July 3, 1851.

1. THE Commander-in-Chief having directed the 1st division under Major-General Somerset, and the 2nd division under Colonel Mackinnon, to march so as to reach positions designated around the Amatolas, on the 24th ultimo, to penetrate the Amatola range in converging columns from the north and south sides of the Amatolas, while the troops at Fort Cox under Lieutenant-Colonel Cooper, 45th Regiment, should penetrate from Fort Cox; and the force from Whittlesea under Captain Tylden should post itself in the Windvogel Berg—to intercept the retreat of the enemy over the Kei: and these troops having reached their positions most correctly as directed, the mountains were penetrated on the morning of the 26th ultimo, in four columns, converging to a centre upon the strongest holds of the enemy,—and their operations continued until the 30th ultimo, with signal success, and great discomfiture to the enemy.

2. 2,200 head of cattle and fifty horses fell into the hands of the troops, while the enemy was driven with considerable loss from every one of the strong and almost insurmountable passes and holds he attempted to defend.

3. His Excellency congratulates most cordially Major-General Somerset, Colonel Mackinnon, Lieutenant-Colonel Michel, Lieutenant-Colonel Eyre, and Lieutenant-Colonel Cooper, on the results of these operations.

4. The accuracy and energy with which Major-General Somerset carried into effect with the 1st Division the part assigned to him in these complicated combined movements, deserve the Commander-in-Chief's highest praises. His columns sustained the chief opposition of the enemy, principally composed of rebel Hottentots, who resisted our troops with great determination. Lieutenant-Colonel Fordyce and the 74th Highlanders seized every opportunity of assailing them and driving them before them; and the Major-General reports in the strongest terms of admiration, the gallantry and discipline of the corps. The Major-

General also highly reports the conduct of a column under Lieutenant-Colonel Sutton.

5. The command of the 2nd Division having devolved, after the first day's operations, on Lieutenant-Colonel Michel, owing to the indisposition of Colonel Mackinnon, who, having furnished him with the outline of the Commander-in-Chief's instructions, confided the execution of them to this officer. Lieutenant-Colonel Michel most ably succeeded by his judgment and calculation of mountain distances, to bring his detachment to bear upon the assailable though most difficult points of the enemy, and well was he supported by the gallant Lieutenant-Colonel Eyre, and the equally gallant 73rd Regiment, and by every officer and soldier under his command. Both these officers forcibly bring to the marked observation of the Commander-in-Chief the heroic exertions of Field-captain Robertson (Ensign C.M.R). This officer's success in every patrol has been so frequently conspicuous, his Excellency records his opinion, that he is one of the most intrepid and promising officers in the service. Lieutenant-Colonel Michel, while in command of the 2nd Division, has exhibited the talent and ability which render him an officer well placed in authority. His operations were of a most enterprising character, opposed by obstacles and difficulties which the troops by his able conduct well overcame.

6. Lieutenant-Colonel Cooper, with a force from Fort Cox, well carried out the instructions he had received to co-operate with the movements of the 1st and 2nd division, by harassing the enemy, by continued patrols into the upper and lower vallies of the Keiskamma on the 26th, 27th, 28th, and 29th ultimo. On the last of these days his force was assailed by, and gallantly repulsed at the Keiskamma Drift, a considerable body of the enemy—in which conflict many of them fell. Lieutenant-Colonel Cooper speaks highly of the good and gallant conduct of the officers and troops under his command.

7. The Commander-in-Chief conveys his marked approbation of the conduct of all the officers—troops and levies—engaged in these operations, as brought to his notice in the reports of the officers in his command, which reports his Excellency has directed to be published, fully concurring in the eulogiums and approbation conveyed to the officers and troops by their respective commanders of columns.

A. J. CLOETE, Lieutenant-Colonel,
Deputy Quarter-Master-General.

GOVERNMENT NOTICE.

Head-Quarters, King William's Town,
July 1, 1851.

1. THE Commander-in-Chief having posted the 1st division under Major-General Somerset, the 2nd division under Colonel Mackinnon, and the troops at Fort Cox, so as to threaten the Amatola Range, the stronghold of the enemy and the retreat of the rebel chief Sandili, and to enable the troops to penetrate the mountains in four columns converging to a centre, while the force from Whittlesea under Captain Tylden was at the same time placed in position on the Windvogelberg in order to intercept the retreat of the enemy towards or across the Kei, a general and simultaneous movement into the Amatolas was carried into effect on the 26th instant. The troops continued their operations until the 30th with signal success, and the complete discomfiture of the enemy. His Excellency has as yet received no official report; but the 2nd division captured 1,500 head of cattle and 42 horses, which have arrived at King William's Town, and took a very large number of goats; devastating the Kraals recently constructed in the mountains. The cattle are in wretched condition; many died on the road from exhaustion; and the officers state that the hills are covered in all directions with the bones and carcases of cows and calves. Colonel Mackinnon, who has reached head-quarters, reports that, while the troops under his orders met with little resistance, he saw the 1st division under Major-General Somerset hotly engaged with the enemy; and that a number of cattle appeared to be in the Major-General's possession. Cattle had also been taken by the troops from Fort Cox; and 300 head had fallen into the hands of Captain Tylden, at the very moment when that enterprising officer was obliged to return abruptly to Whittlesea, having received a report that it was threatened by a large force of Tambookies.

2. These operations, as far as the Commander-in-Chief has as yet the means of judging, have been most ably conducted; the several columns reaching their points, and thus affording that mutual support upon which the success of extended movements depends.

3. When the cattle captured by the 2nd division reached King William's Town, the chiefs Pato, Siwane, and Toise, the great son of Umhala, and a son of Cobus Congo, chanced to be present, as also an influential messenger from Kreili's country.

4. Five hundred head of cattle have been sent to the T'Slambie Commissioner to divide among the chiefs Pato, Siwane, Toise, Cobus Congo, and Umkai, as a reward for their unremitting services in aid of Government at the most critical periods, and especially in consideration of the protection they have afforded by native escorts to waggons, slaughter cattle, mails, &c.

5. It is to be expected that this successful movement will have great effect in leading to the termination of the war. The frontier inhabitants must however well understand—what their melancholy experience and their sufferings in former wars so plainly tell them—that, when the Kafirs are beaten in large bodies, they become most formidable in small marauding parties, which they very significantly designate "Wolves!" and the murders and atrocities already committed by parties of this description, added to the defection of the coloured classes within the colony, demand that every able-bodied inhabitant should arm in the defence of his family and himself, by which means the country would be filled with men whose activity would soon enable them to extirpate or apprehend these dangerous "Wolves."

By his Excellency's command,
JOHN GARVOCK, Lieutenant-Colonel,
Private Secretary.

I HAVE the honour to forward the annexed information received from the chief Toise.

Information received from Chief Toise.

Fort Murray,
June 29, 1851.

THERE are a great many people from the Gaika district passing through my location to the Kei, with women, children, and property. The Gaikas are taking a great many cattle with them, and three or four days ago, Balungwa, a petty chief in Umhala's location, had nearly all his cattle taken from him by thieves from the Gaika district, in consequence of which Balungwa has threatened to bring to the notice of the Government that nearly the whole of Umhala's location has Gaika cattle. Danti, one of my men, told me that the Shiloh Commando had captured an immense number of cattle from Tambookies on the Kei, where the Intsikizi enters it; the cattle are stated to be principally oxen. I also heard from Fingoes on the Inkobongo, that Somerset had entered the Amatola at daylight, and surprised the Kafirs, taking nearly all their cattle, that Colonel Mackinnon had made a Camp on the Zinenka, where he left the waggons and proceeded with his Commando to join Somerset.

I heard from Sugaga, a petty chief of the Gaika tribe, whom I met on the Umcoco, a few days ago, that it was generally reported among the hostile Hottentots and Kafirs, that Stockenstrom had gone beyond the sea for the purpose of advocating the cause of the Gaikas, in trying to get their whole country restored to them.

Danti, one of my men, will arrive here to-day with letters from Shiloh, about the Commando on the Intsikizi River, having returned to Shiloh on account of the Tambookies having taken off a great number of cattle from Kama and the Fingoes of that neighbourhood.

JOHN MACLEAN,
T'Slambie Commissioner.

Camp, on N'caga or Yellow Woods, July 3, 1851.

Sir,—I have the honour to acquaint you, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, that I proceeded with my division yesterday morning and ascended the Amatola, with the view of clearing the eastern range of the Victoria heights, —and also of again attacking the enemy's fastnesses in the forest, at the southern point of Hogg's Back ridge. This latter point was thoroughly cleared by the European levy under Capt. Stevenson, Capt. Heathcote of the George levy, and a company of the 91st under Lieutenant Mainwaring.

The enemy abandoned the forest, when their huts were destroyed, and took refuge in the extreme and highest points of the Chumie Mountains.

I then directed my attention to the southern point of the Victoria heights—placing a gun under Lieutenant Field, the 74th Highlanders under Lieutenant-Colonel Fordyce, and the Cape Mounted Rifles under Major Somerset, in position on the middle ridge. I detached the Graaff-Reinet Levy under Captain Heathcote, Sen., the Fort Beaufort Fingoes under Captain Verity, and destroyed the whole of the kraals east of the Victoria range. While this movement was going on, I detached Captains Cumbers and Ayliff with their levies, and Captain Hobbs with the Kat River Levy, down the valley of the Amatola, destroying all the kraals at the base of the middle ridge, and nearly succeeded in capturing the Kafir Chief Oba, or Waba, Tyali's son, whom I saw lately with the Commander-in-Chief at Fort Cox, as it was his kraal that was surprised by the Kat River Levy under Captain Hobbs, and his wives and family, with all their household property, were captured—including the chief's crane feathers for his tribe, his smart forage cap and jacket, given to him by His Excellency, and much other property; and I distinctly saw the chief ride off from his kraal just before the patrol got there.

The enemy was completely routed and made off in every direction.

In my attack on the Amatola position, on the 26th instant, the chiefs Beta and Pitoi, the son of Vongya (brother of the late Tyali), were killed, and many others of less note. This information I have received from the Kafir Dakana, residing at the Quali station.

GENERAL ORDERS.

No. 132.

Head-quarters, King William's Town, July 9th, 1851.

THE Commander-in-Chief received yesterday Major-General Somerset's report, dated 3rd of July, detailing his operations in the Amatolas, in continuation of those of the 26th, 27th, 28th, 29th and 30th ultimo, adverted to in the General Order of the 3rd instant.

The Major-General's report is so full and explanatory of the able manner in which the enemy has been harassed and completely driven from his favourite fastnesses, that His Excellency has directed its publication, and has much satisfaction in repeating to the Major-General, the officers and troops of the 1st Division, his unqualified approbation of their services during these long and continued operations in the field.

A. J. CLOETE, Dep.-Q.-M.-Gen.

Major Burnaby, R.A., &c., &c., Graham's Town.

No. 126. King William's Town,
My Lord, 19*th July,* 1851.

MY Despatch No. 116, of the 3rd instant, will have informed your Lordship that I contemplated to detach a force into the Fish River Bush, to expel the Kafir and Hottentot rebels, who were committing depredations within the Colony, and endeavouring to interrupt my communication with Graham's Town. I have now the honour to report that this service has been very effectively performed by Lieutenant-Colonel Michel, of the 6th Royal Regiment, and Major Wilmot, Royal Artillery, under the latter of whom I placed the Levies and Fingoes at Fort Peddie.

These operations continued during nine days, little resistance having been offered by the enemy. A herd of eighty-eight Colonial cattle and six horses were captured, and an encampment of the Hottentot Theopolis rebels was destroyed. Seven half-starved and miserable women, some with children, were taken and have been brought to head-quarters in one of the Commissariat waggons. They are either unable or unwilling to throw any light on the causes which led to the misconduct of their husbands and their sons at Theopolis; merely saying, "The Kafirs fetched us away." A quantity of clothes, and, among other things, a number of Bibles, were found in the camp. The Fingoes, whose comrades had been so treacherously and barbarously murdered at Theopolis, naturally showed great exasperation, but I am happy to say that, beyond spoiling the camp, they committed no acts of violence. The enclosed General Order will show the estimation in which I hold the activity and ability of Lieutenant-Colonel Michel, Major Pinckney, and Major Wilmot, and the persevering and cheerful obedience of the officers and men.

On the day after the return of this Patrol, I directed Lieutenant-Colonel Eyre, of the 73rd Regiment, to move with 600 men in the Buffalo Range, and to penetrate some thickly-wooded fastnesses reported to be occupied by the enemy. A few hours after he commenced his march, the enclosed important deposition, to the effect, that the Gaikas were flying from the mountains, was forwarded to me by Captain Maclean, the T'Slambie Commissioner. This information coincides with all other that I have received, and its correctness is rendered next to certain, by an intimation from the Reverend Mr. Gladwin, the Wesleyan Missionary at Butterworth, that the late combined operations in the Amatolas have had a great effect throughout the country, having, as he terms it, shaken the land as "an earthquake," and that the Chief Kreili had come to Butterworth to ask him to intercede for peace. I therefore at once directed Lieutenant-Colonel Napier, of the Cape Mounted Rifles, to march with 200 horse on the great Kei road, and to post himself in the neighbourhood of the old Fort Wellington, so as to intercept the fugitives from the Amatolas, whose flight would in all probability be accelerated by the movements of Lieutenant-Colonel Eyre. The Chief Toise, who fully corroborates the information received from the T'Slambie Commissioner, has accompanied Lieutenant-Colonel Napier, whose cavalry operations will be carried on in his location. I am in daily expectation of the arrival from England of the 2nd Queen's Regiment; and its appearance at this moment at the mouth of the Buffalo, would be very opportune, as it would undoubtedly have the greatest effect on the minds of the Kaffirs.

Your Lordship will thus perceive the result produced by my combined movements in the Amatolas. Meanwhile depredations have been committed within the colony to a lamentable extent, so much so, that Major-General Somerset, upon the urgent representation of the Civil Commissioner of the Division of "Somerset," has moved a large mounted force with some Fingoes and Levies upon the "Bush Neck," and the Kaga and Koonap Rivers, where he has been very successful in intercepting marauding parties, and recapturing their spoil. I have requested the Major-General to establish posts of Burghers, if they will turn out in their own defence, at every eligible point; and I have expressed my wish that he should return with his force to Fort Hare. Lamentable as these excesses are, former experience strongly inclines me to believe that they are the last effort of the enemy, who in all previous wars has invariably made a rush into the colony immediately before his final submission. I am therefore the more anxious to continue my combined operations in the Amatolas, which, in the present dispirited state of the Gaikas, would I hope bring hostilities to a close. All reports tend to the belief, that now is the time to persevere in the aggressive. The visit of the paramount chief Kreili, to Mr. Gladwin at Butterworth, greatly confirms this belief; and a late endeavour on the part of Pato to intercede for the chief Stock, to whose sister he is married, is another indication of the feeling which prevails. Desirous, however, as I am for peace, I shall not fail to keep in mind your Lordship's injunctions, so consonant with my own views, that it must not be patched up on the hollow assurances of rebels, who flew treacherously to arms, and committed the most atrocious murders, but that it must be preceded by their unconditional submission, and be established upon such a basis of justice and equity, to both colonist and Kafir, as can hardly fail to ensure future tranquility.

I have, &c.

H. G. SMITH.

P.S.—A report has just been received from Lieutenant-Colonel Napier, stating that he has intercepted 287 head of cattle. Lieutenant-Colonel Eyre has just returned, and is now with me. He has patrolled through very intricate and difficult country in the poorts of the Buffalo, with his usual enterprise and gallantry, and has brought in 224 head of cattle and 12 horses. Lieutenant-Colonel Eyre reports that he took three prisoners, who corroborate the information already received, as to the movement of the Gaikas from the Amatolas over the Kei, and into Umhula's country, and as to the move of Sandili. I send this abrupt report, the mail being about to close.

THE patrols hence and from Fort Peddie, under Lieutenant-Colonel Michel, 6th Regiment, and Major Wilmot, Royal Artillery, returned to head quarters yesterday evening, after nine days continued operations in the Fish River Bush, from which they have well dislodged the scattered parties of Stock's Kafirs, and have destroyed a camp of renegade Hottentots of Theopolis.

The Kafirs fled on all occasions before our troops, as well as Hottentots; eighty-eight head of cattle and six horses were captured from the enemy.

Lieutenant-Colonel Michel, Major Pinckney, Major Wilmot, the officers and troops, merit the Commander-in-Chief's warmest commendations for their zeal and activity during night marches, and exertions known alone to those who energetically prosecute Kafir warfare.

His Excellency desires to impress upon officers and soldiers forming escorts to waggons, that when their assistance is required to aid in accidents, which will unavoidably occur to waggons in bad roads, the flanks and rear should be so protected by military disposition as to ensure the column against being insulted by the marauding bands lurking in the bush.

Fort Murray, July 17th, 1851.

INFORMATION communicated by "Sifo," (Toise's civil policeman), received by him from Pala's of Sandili's tribe, and corroborated by several Kafirs of Sandili's tribe, met by "Sifo," flying from the Gaika district to Umhala's and Kreili's country:—

"I have just returned from Toise's Kraal; on my way to Toise's, and on my return, I met a great many Gaikas plying into Umhala's country, and also many going in the direction of the Kei; I spoke to several, and they all told me the same story, that they were obliged to leave the mountains, and could not live there any longer, as they were quite done up. 'Pala,' of the Gaika tribe, told me that Sandili had left the Amatola, and had gone to Xaxagele Mountain Bush, near the Kamakalu or Bethel Mission Station, not far from where his brother 'Anta' resides.

"The Kafirs who are flying have a very few cattle with them; they told me that the troops had taken nearly all their cattle.

"I also heard that Colonel Mackinnon's patrol did not kill many Kafirs, as the Kafirs ran away. Somerset's patrol killed many, as the greater part of the Kafirs engaged him.

"Sandili was surrounded by troops in the Bush near the Zinkaka River, west of the Keiskamma, above the Amatolo. He escaped by creeping on his hands and knees; this took place where there are high trees, and where Colonel Mackinnon's patrol took some horses, the troops having come upon Sandili, when he and his people were asleep."

SIR,

I BEG to enclose for the information of His Excellency the Governor, the following extract of a letter received by me yesterday from Mr. McDiarmid. The person who made the statement is well known to me, and his information may be relied on.

"On the 28th June, the division from Fort Cox*, in ascending the height between Brownlee's and the Wolf River, met a little resistance; and

* This is the spot referred to in Sifo's statement to the T'Slambie Commissioner, where Sandili is said to have escaped by creeping on his hands and knees.

they saw four men making off on horseback at full speed in the direction of Mount McDonald, and here from the post we saw an equal number riding at full speed from the drift above Ngotshe's garden, and up opposite Ngotshe's Kraal. Dun says that Sandili was one of the four; that he fled from the neighbourhood of Bambe's Kraal, made for the Amatola, and that there he was met by some of Somerset's Levies; they then turned down through the Umkubrio, crossed the Keiskamma river, and got into cover near to where Captain Bambrink was killed last war."

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to report, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, that I have just received a report of the appearance of a large Kafir Commando, about an hour from Mr. L. Triegardt's, on the Riet River in this Division, and that his patrol was nearly cut off. He has urgently applied for assistance, expecting an attack on his laager to-night. I am afraid the Kafirs have eluded the patrols in Kafirland, and purpose devastating the colony. I am taking all the necessary steps to meet such an invasion, but fear, from the state of the district, the attempt will prove but ineffectual.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to acquaint you, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, that I established my camp in this position on the 8th instant, since which time I have been occupied in sending out patrols to intercept the numerous marauding parties of Kafirs who are ravaging the district in vast numbers.

Such a panic appears to have been struck amongst the inhabitants, that little or no resistance appears to have been offered to the attacks of the enemy in their attempts to carry off the stock, —the farmers, abandoning their property, are flying with their families in all directions.

I have pursued the most active measures to intercept the marauding parties, and to restore confidence.

I am about to despatch Major Somerset with a force towards the Fish River Road.

In order more fully to detail my proceedings, I have the honour to inclose a copy of my Journal for the Commander-in-Chief's information.

Great scarcity of forage prevails in the district, but I have just obtained a small supply, which enables me to detach Major Somerset as I proposed. The whole country along the Fish River is entirely bare of grass. I have, &c.

King William's Town,
22nd July 1851.

MY LORD,

MY Dispatch, No. 126, of the 19th instant, will have made your Lordship acquainted with the success of my operations in British Kaffraria. No further information than that previously reported had then reached me from Major-General Somerset or from Major Warden, the British Resident in the Orange River Territory. I have now the honour to transmit copies of reports which I received yesterday from both these officers, and of one from Major Donovan, commanding the troops at Bloem Fontein.

The unremitting zeal and activity of Major-General Somerset, and his experience and abilities in the direction of the force which I have placed under his authority, will, I hope, counteract all the evils within the colony which he so feelingly describes; and I rely with the greater confidence on such a result from the judicious arrangements which he has already made, set forth in the enclosed "Frontier Order." They provide for much that is contained in a "Memoir" addressed to me by the Board of Defence at Graham's Town, the copy of which I enclose, together with that of my reply.

In the Orange River Territory affairs are by no means in so satisfactory a position as I could desire. In my memorandum to the officers in authority there, it is far from my intention to convey censure, having full confidence in their discretion; but risks should never be run, nor an attempt made to carry an enemy's position, especially in the commencement of a war, without every probability of success. It would have been gratifying to me to have been able to extend my report of successful operations in British Kaffraria to the Orange River Districts, and I trust that my next intelligence will enable me to do so.

Two strong patrols, under Lieutenant-Colonel Michel and Lieutenant-Colonel Eyre, are now in the field in British Kaffraria in opposite directions, in order to follow up the recent successes.

I have, &c.

H. G. SMITH.

P.S. Just as the mail was about to start, the important and sensible letter from Mr. Gladwin at Butterworth, of which the enclosed is a copy, reached me, and I opened my Dispatch in order to communicate to your Lordship this satisfactory intelligence, which I hope may reach Cape Town in time for the mail steamer. I shall be very guarded in my replies, and hold well the vantage ground I have obtained.

Enclosure No. 1.

Camp Haddon, Koonap,
July 16, 1851.

SIR,

I FEEL it my duty to report for your Excellency's information, the serious position of this part of the border from the encroachments of the enemy.

For some weeks past a very large body of the enemy have established themselves in the forests of the Kroome range, devastating the whole of the Winterberg District, and detaching strong parties into the district of the Fish River, Estach's Drift to Roode Wall; from these positions the enemy has overrun the country by bodies of plundering Kaffirs and Hottentots, who have carried off upwards of 5000 head of cattle, and about 20,000 sheep and 3000 horses.

Since my last patrols in Kraal Stock every farm-house in the Koonap from the Winterberg to this point has been burned and destroyed, including all the farms in the Mancazana and five farms in the Water-kloof.

By the success of these devastating proceedings the enemy has secured an immense accession of force, every vagabond in the country joining his standard and living on the plunder of the farmers.

No body of farmers that could have been assembled would have been sufficient to encounter these marauding parties of the enemy, without abandoning their families to certain destruction, and thus, all who have been enabled to escape with their remaining stock have endeavoured to do so.

So long as the enemy can hold his present position with the success that has attended his operations, it is hopeless to suppose he will withdraw from the country. I have no hesitation in saying that the district from the points I have named on the Fish River to within five miles of Fort Beaufort has been in complete possession of the enemy, and he has extended his operations to within fourteen miles of the village of Somerset.

The bodies of the enemy concealed in the valleys above Estach's Drift attack all convoys passing up to Cradock, and these parties keep up the communication with the enemy's force in the Kroome Forest.

On the recent attack of the enemy on the cattle of Stoffel Botha (430 head), where the Burgher Meyer was killed, and Mr. Mc Master's cattle, from the Mancazana (250 head), the Kaffirs assembled in two bodies, mounted and on foot, to support each other, besides a body of Hottentots being concealed in the rocks; this latter party nearly annihilated the whole of the pursuing party; so systematically are their plans laid, that no small body can contend with them with success.

The whole of the above cattle were carried off by the Kaffirs, besides 160 head from Hk. Botha in Koonap, and the whole of Mr. Mc Master's fine premises have been burnt to the ground.

The native servants of the farmers who have fled the district, have refused to accompany their employers remained behind, and are now destroying the remaining property of the inhabitants, and have joined the enemy.

I am now about to move my force to the head of the Kroome Stream so as to be able to attack the enemy from that point, and endeavour to break up his stronghold, at the same time that my patrols endeavour to cut off his marauding parties; but I feel it impossible to withdraw my force from the neighbourhood of the Kroome Forest, so long as the enemy holds his present position, without abandoning the districts of Fort Beaufort and Somerset to utter destruction and endangering the whole frontier border. I have, &c.

H. SOMERSET,
Major-General.

His Excellency Lieut.-General Sir H. Smith,
G.C.B. Commander-in-Chief.

Haddon, Koonap,
SIR, 10*th July* 1851.

I HAVE the honour to transmit, for the Commander-in-Chief's information, a memorandum of my movements against the enemy on the 14th and 15th instant.

As the enemy appears now to have retired into the kloofs of Fuller's Hock and Blinkwater, I propose moving with my force to a position at the head of the Kroome Stream, to be able to attack him from that point.

A small post of Burghers will be established at the Gola under Mr. Eiden van der Ness.

One at the head of the Cowie Forest, under Mr. Mac Gregor.

One at Haddon, where I propose leaving a detachment of the European levy to keep up the communication with my camp on the Kroome.

I hope by these arrangements that in a very few days the burghers will be induced to commence returning to this district, to enable me to establish posts for actively protecting the country.

I have, &c.,
H. SOMERSET,
Major-General.

Lieut.-Colonel Cloete, C.B., K.H.
Dep.-Quartermaster-General.

King William's Town,
SIR, July 22, 1851.

THE Commander-in-Chief desires me to reply to your letter addressed to him, dated Koonap, July 10th, and that of the same date, addressed to me, reporting the state of the Koonap and Upper Fish River Country, and the measures you had adopted to arrest the progress of devastation committed by the enemy along that extensive frontier line.

His Excellency entirely approves the judicious arrangements you have made in the disposition of the force placed under your orders for the protection of the colony; and he confidently expects with you the results you anticipate from the active exertions of the troops, which your experience of the country has enabled you so to post as to look for complete success in destroying the enemy, and clearing the district of the numerous bodies of rebels, who have committed such fearful havoc along the border.

In a special manner am I to convey to you the Commander-in-Chief's approval of the frontier-district orders, issued on the 13th instant, wherein you have provided with such forethought for the future security of the country, that his Excellency trusts you will not be disappointed in seeing confidence restored by the farmers embodying themselves to aid you in driving the enemy out of the colony.

This accomplished, and his Excellency has every reason to anticipate that another general attack upon the Amatolas will complete the arduous operations in which the army has been incessantly engaged during the winter months, and reduce the enemy to subjection.

A. J. CLOETE.

P.S. Here are at present two considerable patrols out under Lieut.-Cols. Michel and Eyre; the first in the Keiskamma Bed, at the junction of the Umdegini and Untali, the other in the Buffalo Mountains, from which his Excellency anticipates a continuation of the successes that have attended the patrols.

A. J. CLOETE,
Lieut.-Col., Dep. Qr.-Master-General.

Major-General Somerset,
Commanding 1st Division.

Enclosure No. 2.

Bloem Fontein,
July 6th, 1851.

SIR,

YOUR Excellency's letter, dated the 17th ultimo, I had the honour to receive last night, a few hours after my return to Bloem Fontein. The observations and commands contained in your Excellency's communication have entirely set my mind at ease in regard to the recent proceedings against Moshesh and Moletsani, and clearly point out the course to be pursued towards those chiefs. In my letter of the 27th ultimo to your Excellency's Secretary Colonel Garvock, I mentioned that the force under Major Donovan would move on the following day towards Sikongela's country, in order to enable that chief to join his tribe.

We took the wagon-road, and when about ten miles from Plat Berg, the advanced guard was fired upon by a party concealed behind some rocks. Not a shot was returned on our side, and the troops with the burghers and native contingents encamped near the mountain called "Vier Voet:" during the night some shots were again fired by the enemy, and a Fingoe sentry badly wounded. The next day, being Sunday, the commando made no movement, the enemy however was observed to be in force on the Vier Voet Mountain, and on the following morning Major Donovan gave the order for attack; most gallantly was it made, and the stronghold of the enemy carried, with severe loss to our opponents. The Barolongs, 700 strong, after capturing some thousands of cattle, and believing that no further fighting was required, remained on the mountain for the purpose of plundering the huts, and regaling themselves on Kaffir beer which was found in large quantities. During this time two large Basontu commandoes, under Moshesh's brother Mosseni, and Molappa, Moshesh's son, gained the summit of the mountain and fell upon the Barolongs, who were taken by surprise, and had it not been for the gallant stand made by the Boers under Commandant Erasmus, who had observed the approach of the Basontus, very few of the Barolongs, would have escaped; as it was 138 Barolongs were killed and many wounded. A 6-pr. gun well horsed and supported by a detachment of Cape Mounted Rifles, under Ensign Somerset, and a party of Boers under Mr. A. Eervce, was hard pressed by the enemy for many hours, and escaped with difficulty.

Had the Borolongs left the mountain immediately after routing their first opponents, the loss of life on our side would have been trifling compared to that of the enemy, whereas it is now almost equal. Moroko lost 138, the Koranas, Le Puis and Bethany people 14; making a total of 152, besides a great many wounded. Among the killed, I regret to say, are two of Moroko's brothers, and the leader of the Bethany natives.

The Basutu tribe having joined the Battamy and Koranas under Gert Lynks, we may number our enemy in this sovereignty at about 10,000 fighting men. The chief Moroko is sadly depressed at the heavy loss his people have sustained, and I may say that the whole tribe is panic-stricken; this, together with the incumbrance of about 500 women and children of the Plaat Berg Mission station, which is abandoned, save by the Reverend Mr. Giddy and two or three Englishmen, who thought proper to remain there, induced me to recommend Major Donovan to fall back upon Thaba Unchu; indeed the force under that officer was not sufficient to cope with the combined Basutus and Battamy tribes with any chance of success. Without the aid of a strong Burgher commando, offensive operations cannot be carried on in so intricate a country as that occupied by Moshesh and Molitsani. Only 120 Boers joined us; 350 were ordered out. I have again called on the several commandants and field-cornets, pointing out the necessity of at once putting down the common enemy of the white man; that the year 1851 must decide the mastery between the white and coloured race, both here and in the colony; that the Burghers employed against the enemy should have one-third of all cattle captured. To each commandant and field-cornet I addressed a letter; and if the farmers will not turn out, they deserve to lose their lands, and must abide the consequences of a native inroad, which those at a distance from the frontier line seem to treat with the same apathy as nine-tenths of the farmers do in the colony. The wily chief Moshesh has been at work by means of letters addressed to the Boers, and which have been widely circulated, to lead them to believe that the Basutu people are their friends; a translation of one of these letters I enclose herewith for your Excellency's perusal. The farmers in Captain A. Kok's country and about the Riet River, in excuse for not turning out when ordered, say that they are afraid to leave their families exposed to the Griquas, who are not to be trusted even for a day, owing to the sympathy they openly expressed towards the Hottentots within the colony. Captain Adam Kok, although somewhat tardy in calling out his people, joined our camp with 180 men on the evening before the affair at Vier Voet; he left the camp with one and a few of his people on the 4th instant, and has now gone to Phillipolis to bring up more of his men.

Both the Boers and Griquas are fortunately so far involved that they cannot retreat, and Moshesh must give up the hope of gaining them over to his side. The chief Sikonyela took advantage of the enemy being engaged with us, and made his escape home; he will now be prepared to take the field with a considerable force on the 21st instant. I am glad to be able to acquaint your Excellency that with the exception of two men slightly wounded, there were no casualties either among the troops or Burghers.

I have, &c.

H. D. WARDEN,
British Resident.

His Excellency Sir H. G. Smith, Bart. G.C.B.
Her Majesty's High Commissioner.

Camp, near Thaba Uchu,
4th July, 1851.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to report to you, for the information of his Excellency the Commander-in-chief, that the patrol detailed in my letter of the 20th ultimo,* accompanied by about 800 Borolongs, under the chief Moroko, and 120 Burghers, marched from Thaba Uchu, on the 19th, and reached Platberg on the following day, when the British Resident sought an interview with Moshesh, which, however, that chief declined.

The chief Sykonyella who accompanied Major Warden from Bloem Fontein, attempted to cross the country the following day, under an escort of 80 men, to reach his home, but was attacked by a large body of Basutus, and compelled to take refuge on a "Kopie," where he made a bold stand till the next day, when I sent a party to his relief, which brought him back; on the 29th, the whole force, with the Platberg Bastards, and Fingoes and their families, who were afraid to remain behind, proceeded to the Vierfoot mountain, from whence it was expected that Sykonyella might proceed to his own mountain in safety; on reaching which the advanced guard was fired upon, but not a single shot was returned. The force bivouacked near the mountain, and was joined the following day by Captain Adam Kok and his party (180 men). During the whole of Sunday the enemy was seen in great force on the mountains, and during the night wounded a Fingoe sentry. Having made arrangements to attack them at daylight, next morning the greater part of the force moved towards the mountain, which they ascended in gallant style, covered by a 6-pounder, driving the enemy before them and capturing an immense number of cattle; unfortunately, the Borolongs remained on the mountain until surrounded by three large bodies of Basutus, who suddenly made their appearance and rescued the cattle, killing 138 Borolongs (including two of Moroko's brothers) and about fourteen other natives, with a loss, however, on their own side of about the same number.

The chief Moroko dreading an attack upon his town, and being, moreover, encumbered with about 500 women and children, the British Resident recommended that the force should retire and encamp at this place where it is intended to remain until considerably augmented by a Burgher force which the Resident has again called on.

It will be seen by the enclosed letter from Captain Bates, 45th Regiment, that the enemy made a bold attempt to capture the gun, which, however, was most gallantly defended by Captain Bates and the party under his command.

I have, &c.

King William's Town.

SIR, Camp, Vierfoot, 1st July 1851.

I HAVE the honour to report that in compliance with your verbal orders, I marched yesterday at sun-rise with a patrol, strength as per margin,* to cover Moroko's commando in their ascent of Maritzanis Mountain.

One division ascended without opposition by one of the two practicable passes.

I then proceeded to support the second division in their ascent by the other pass. My route to this led round the northern point of the mountain, a distance of about ten miles from the camp; here I halted according to your instructions, but being informed that it was necessary to move further up the valley to support our allies in their ascent, I did so, and they succeeded.

Having thus effected the object for which I was sent, I was about to return, when I found that a large commando of the enemy, who must have lain concealed, had placed themselves across my route, one division occupying the rocks on my left, the other resting in a deep ravine on my right. This placed me in a critical position, and seeing their number increasing, I resolved at once to dash through them, which was done, under a heavy fire from both sides; this threw the natives of the Cape Mounted Rifles into considerable confusion, notwithstanding Ensign Somerset's cool example and endeavours to maintain order. I therefore halted and fired some rounds of "common case," which checked the fire of the enemy. I limbered up, and proceeded at a smart pace, under an incessant fire, to join the open country. The enemy, however, continuing to press us from both sides, I was obliged several times to halt under fire, and open upon them with the six-pounder. I thus succeeded in joining the flat, when, however, my progress was arrested by a deep spruit, but through the strenuous exertions of Lieutenant Singer, R.A., and his men, the gun was crossed, while the enemy was held at bay by the Cape Mounted Rifles and Burghers.

The enemy still forcing on our route, I adopted a new order of march; my force, principally consisting of natives, having been joined by some of Moroko's men, I made all dismount, in order that there should be no hurrying to the front should the enemy close upon us; I also placed flanking and rear parties, and in this order proceeded at a walk. Our attitude appeared to awe the enemy, for they abandoned a position in our front, and confined themselves in pressing our rear and flanks; an occasional shot from the gun and flanking parties enabled us to proceed without any more serious molestation until we reached the vicinity of the camp, when they moved off.

I have entered into this detail, considering it my duty to do so in justice to the officers, artillerymen, and Europeans of the Cape Mounted Rifles, whose steady coolness and obedience to orders under this heavy fire, alone carried us through.

The Burghers under Mr. Erivee behaved well; Mr. Biddulph, who accompanied them, was of the greatest assistance to me in carrying orders, also Staff Assistant-Surgeon Cameron.

The number of men opposed to us was about 500, all mounted.

I returned to the camp at 4 P.M.

I have, &c.

Captain 45th Regt.

Major Donovan, Cape Mounted Rifles, Commandant.

Douker Berg, 19th June, 1851.

To Commandant M. Wessels, Vette River.

WORTHY inhabitants of this land, say, from Orange River to Vaal River, say, natives of South Africa, you all know well, that it is fifteen years since you Christians trekked into this country, and I ask you all whether any thing has been done by subjects of mine to you. I believe not. It is now nearly a year since some farmers, inhabitants, say African Boers, made themselves guilty against the Chief Moletsani, which Captain lives in alliance with me, by going with the British Resident in an unlawful manner. But I shall lose this case entirely out of view (forget it), and consider that it was done in ignorance on your part, and through force (compulsion) on the part of the British Resident, of which I warned you before. I, as a true friend of Christianity, as the Landfather of the natives of this land, I advise and warn you all, no more to make yourselves guilty with the British Resident over the line, against the natives of this land, for believe me, I shall be compelled, years in succession, to defend my case, but then much innocent blood shall and must be shed, for it appears that according to report (intelligence) addressed to me by the British Resident Warden, that he intends to bring the country into confusion, as is the case in the colony, from which I receive my report every week. So thus, African Boers or Inhabitants of this Land, I hope to continue to live in peace (friendship) with you all, but I advise you not to make yourselves guilty over the line.

To the Christian inhabitants of this country, from Orange River to Vaal River.

Your well-meaning and fast friend,

MASOES,
Chief and Ruler of the Land.

Worthy Sir,

Because I hear you are the nearest to the line, I send you the within report, send it instantly without delay.

MASOES,
Captain and Ruler of the Land.

Enclosure No. 8.

FRONTIER DISTRICT ORDERS.

Haddon Camp, Koonap, July 13, 1851.

A REPORT having been made to Major-General Somerset by farmers, who have been obliged to abandon their farms in consequence of the attacks of the enemy, that several of their native servants had refused to accompany them, but have remained behind, and are now going about the country, plundering and destroying the remainder of the property which the farmers have been obliged to abandon.

All Military and Burgher patrols are now directed to arrest and apprehend all natives found harbouring or wandering on the farmers' places, and to conduct them as prisoners to the nearest Post or seat of Magistracy. If such persons do not surrender on being required to do so, but offer resistance, or make off into the bush, they must be treated as enemies, and fired upon by the patrols.

His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief having directed Major-General Somerset to proceed with a force into the Colony to protect the inhabitants, and to establish Burgher Posts, the Major-General notifies that a Camp is now formed at Haddon on the Koonap, from whence detachments have already been detached to assist in protecting the few farmers and their stock on the border that have not yet been abandoned.

Another Camp will also be formed on the Fish River Rand under Major Somerset, from whence the most active patrols will be sent out to destroy the enemy, and to clear the country of the numerous bodies of rebels and vagabonds who have committed such fearful havoc and destruction along the border.

Since the 8th instant, several herds of cattle and flocks of sheep have been recaptured, and several of the enemy shot by the patrols.

As by the arrangements which have now been made, the farmers will be enabled to return to their places, where every protection will be afforded them, the Major-General relies with confidence on the farmers themselves turning out, as far as possible mounted and equipped, to assist the troops in the general cause in giving a decided check to the encroachments of the enemy into the Colony.

From the Camps above notified, and also at Fort Beaufort, where a small mounted force and a considerable body of enrolled Fingoes are stationed, immediate assistance will be afforded to protect or recover property, if early application is made to the officers commanding.

W. H. JESSE, Lt. R.E.,
D. Q. M. Gen. 1st Division.

Enclosure No. 4.

Memoir

Presented to His Excellency Sir H. G. W. Smith, Bart. K.H. and K.C.B., Governor and Commander-in-Chief, by the Board of Defence, Graham's Town.

THAT the alarming nature of the intelligence received from the upper frontier districts, shows in their opinion, that the force now acting within the Colony is quite inadequate to the protection of the lives and property of Her Majesty's subjects.

That within the last six weeks the enemy has swept off from the district of Somerset alone, upwards of 20,000 sheep, 3,000 head of cattle, and 300 horses; that since the commencement of the war, 200 farm-houses on the north-eastern border have been reduced to ashes, and that a large amount of bread, corn, and other property has been wantonly destroyed.

That whilst the frontier colonists have become prostrated by the harassing events of seven months hostilities, the enemy has received within the present week, large accessions to his numbers, by the desertions of Hottentot servants, who up to this time, had remained faithful to their employers, and being at the present moment in possession of more cattle than before the war, is not likely to be subdued by famine.

That it is evident that the enemy is rapidly extending his operations, while the frontier is receding westwards, so that Burgher Camps, and Laagers, which but a few weeks ago were regarded as occupying secure positions, are now merely outposts, and these too are one by one being abandoned, as too weak to resist the tide of invasion.

That the heretofore settled districts are overrun by hordes of savage despoilers, before whom the farmers are retreating, and thus an immense tract of territory, the recent abode of industry, is relinquished to the undisputed possession of Kafirs and rebel Hottentots.

That whilst the extensive forays have supplied the Kafirs with abundance of food, the resources of the colony are rapidly becoming crippled and reduced; and that, unless this be at once stayed, the quantity of stock will shortly be unable to supply the immediate wants of the inhabitants, who will consequently become subjected to the severest privations, whilst agricultural operations being altogether suspended, distress must be increased rather than diminished, as the season advances.

It is the conviction of this Board that the Burghers of the frontier have been quite unable to protect their own property, which has been already carried off to the extent of several thousand pounds, and therefore, could not afford your Excellency that personal co-operation in the field, which seemed so desirable, and which was so urgently prayed for. Even the population of Graham's Town, so reduced by contingents supplied for the field, for Government escorts of stores to outposts, and by the patrol duties of the Albany Rangers, the Farmers' Club and Fingoes, is in the absence of any garrison force, regarded by all as unequal to its own defence. The spontaneous and universal desertion of the Kafir servants was a serious misfortune to the border farmers, and being followed by the defection of the Hottentots, the property of their employers could not with safety be left to their sole care; it hence became impossible for men so circumstanced to leave their homes, which, at the moment of their departure, might have been assailed by, or surrendered to, the foe, as in too many instances has actually occurred.

That this Board is not unmindful of your Excelleney's expressed intention of maintaining the Kaffrarian forts, as a basis of military operations; but they earnestly entreat that the helpless condition of the Colony may have your Excelleney's immediate attention.

That the establishment of certain Burgher posts, by your Excelleney's order, in June last, was hailed with gratitude as a temporary relief; but since that period those posts, so far as established, are found insufficient to protect their immediate localities, whilst the country at large is without any adequate force to resist the hostile inroad.

That the recent occurrences in the Orange River Sovereignty seem to give indication of the spread there of that combination amongst the coloured races, from which this province is now suffering. The Board, therefore, deem it of vital moment that the most energetic measures for the protection of the Colony should be taken, and that without a moment's delay. They are of opinion that the time has arrived when every able-bodied man throughout the Colony should be required, in the terms prescribed by law, to enrol himself for the common defence, and that Her Majesty's Government be informed of the urgent and absolute necessity of additional troops being sent hither to avert the calamities which now threaten to engulph the whole of the eastern province. The danger which threatens the country is, in the opinion of the Board, imminent, and they confidently trust, by the measures adopted by your Excellency, and by God's help, that the present wicked rebellion may be put down, and firm enduring peace be restored to this distracted land.

King William's Town,
22nd July, 1851.

GENTLEMEN,

YOUR memoir of the 19th instant reached me yesterday. I have always thought that any regular force at my disposal, which could be given for the interior defence of the frontier, would be inadequate for the purpose, although I ordered there every available reinforcement.

My proclamations of the 25th December and 3rd February last, the general disregard of which has led to the misfortunes therein predicted, were issued, such being my impression. Had the levy en masse which I called forth, been readily afforded, affairs at this moment, within the Colony, would not wear their present disastrous aspect from marauders.

I am aware that there is now much difficulty in the farmers on the immediate frontier turning out, owing to the desertion of their servants; but this is not the case on what may be termed the 2nd Line; and I expect much from a commando now in the field under Mr. Cole, Civil Commissioner of Albert.

It is indeed melancholy to observe the awful state of the country, on which you so truly comment. Major-General Somerset is now detached into the Colony from the immediate frontier, and the Frontier Orders of the 13th instant show that he is ably exerting himself to meet the evil. However much I admire the conduct of the Albany Rangers, and I have every reason to do so, I cannot admit that the inhabitants of Graham's Town have done as much as might have been expected to contribute towards the general defence. And I ground such an assertion upon their noble conduct in 1835.

Your comments upon the defection of the Hottentots are most just—lamentable is that defection, and equally unexpected by me as by yourselves.

It has cramped my movements and protracted the duration of the war, which would otherwise have, ere this, been brought to a conclusion. I am but too well aware, Gentlemen, of the helpless condition of very many of the inhabitants of the Colony; no one can more regret it than myself, and I feel additional pain because I know that the greater part of the evils which have assailed them might have been averted. Had the Burghers at once turned out at the commencement of hostilities, we should not now have to deplore all that you so truly and lamentably describe.

In 1849 I proposed to the Colony an improvement and modification of the system called the Commando system, which it most unthinkingly opposed. Had the force contemplated by that improved system, been at my disposal, the state of affairs would have been indeed far different from what it is now within the colonial border.

The course I have pursued in British Kaffraria is the correct one. Had I swerved from a perseverence in it, however lawfully the marauding parties have recently carried on their depredations, there would then have been a general rush into the Colony of the whole Kafir tribes. In war, that must be attempted which carries with it a prospect of the greatest general benefit to the whole. I posted the division of the troops under Major-General Somerset at Fort Hare, as a second line for interior defence, and for the Burghers to rally round. Major-General Somerset has moved this division, with my sanction, into the most disturbed districts; and this most active and enterprising officer has my authority to establish posts of Burghers at every prominent point best calculated to repel banditti.

You are of opinion that the time has now arrived when every able-bodied man should be required to turn out. I think this time arrived seven months ago, and I accordingly then called upon them by proclamation to do so. But what was the result? Whenever the Burghers will turn out for the occupation of posts, you are aware that I ration them and feed their horses; and their services are important. Two thousand of the Hottentot levies have, as you know, returned to their homes. I am in daily expectation of further reinforcements from England; and on their arrival, if Major-General Somerset's operations have not had their desired effect, and if the present demeanour of the Kafirs, which, from the recent and continued successes against them in British Kaffraria is decidedly that of despondency, continues, I may be enabled to make a more extended disposition of the force under my command.

I have thus entered into the subject with you, Gentlemen, with a desire to show that while, as a citizen, I sympathize in the present calamity, as Commander-in-Chief, I am exerting myself to the utmost to restore tranquillity.

I have, &c.

H. G. SMITH.

Enclosure No. 5.

MEMORANDUM.

I HAVE before me the report of Major Warden, the British Resident, and of Major Donovan, of the Cape Mounted Rifles, commanding the troops at Bloem Fontein, under date respectively the 6th and 4th instant.

Although I am well aware of the difficulty of collecting men from different bodies, none of whom are particularly alert in turning out in aid of Government, it appears to me that the attack upon the enemy's position at "Vier Voet," was in some degree precipitated before sufficient resources had been collected to enable the commander to calculate on success.

The assault in the first instance most assuredly well succeeded; and had the Borolongs been steady after their success, the present result would not have occurred. But in all attacks, and especially those in which bodies of men of the most irregular description are employed, reserves should invariably be held in readiness. The assault of these strongholds, without overpowering means, should be avoided. It appears to me that the course now to be pursued, if no other has been already adopted, is to call out the Burgher population, and the active and efficient men of every tribe which adheres to Government; and as soon as these are collected a forward movement in force should be attempted. But unless Major Warden and Major Donovan have every reason to calculate upon the success of their operations, they should not, for the present at least, become the assailants, but, in again taking the field, entice the assaults of the enemy. The three six-pounder guns at Bloem Fontein ought all to be taken into the field. I am aware that only one is horsed, but spans of bullocks are available for draught. No species of force is more inefficient than a single gun; when, therefore, two are in the field, they should be kept together, and no gun ought to be detached without British infantry.

I hope that the four months' provisions which I have always directed to be kept in store at Bloem Fontein, are so; and I desire that even this store of four months be now increased.

Major Warden will call upon the Volunteer force, which I understand exists at Bloem Fontein, but of which I have never received an official report, to embody themselves and occupy the "Queen's Fort," while the most effective men of Her Majesty's troops are in the field.

Major Warden will take care to avail himself of the co-operation of the chief Sikonyella, alluded to in his report. He will induce all the Fingoes to rally round his standard, and he is authorised to issue pay and rations to such as enrol themselves in the mode adopted within the colony.

Major Warden will convey to Field Commandant Erasmus my admiration of the gallantry which he and the Burghers under him displayed on the 30th ultimo, and in calling on the rest of the Burghers to take the field, the tenure on which they hold their lands from Government, he will cite the conduct of these brave and loyal men, in order to induce them to do so.

Major Warden will also convey to the chief Moroko my sympathy in the family loss he has sustained, which I hope will be an inducement to continued exertion on his part to defeat his enemies; the cause of Moroko being the just.

Major Warden and Major Donovan will risk nothing that is not founded on every prospect of success. Partial success even would be little thought of; while failure would be attended with disastrous results.

I desire that whenever any body of Her Majesty's troops is employed with these irregular levies, it may invariably be kept collected.

H. G. SMITH.

Enclosure No. 6.

Butterworth, July 31, 1851.

My Dear Sir Harry,

YOUR Excellency will be gratified to hear of the favourable turn in our affairs at Butterworth. On Saturday the 11th inst. the chief Rili came here; and although he felt some difficulty in looking me direct in the face, it was evident from his whole deportment, that a great change had passed over him. This doubtless was one of the results of the late movements in the Amatola mountains; that affair has opened his eyes, and he now professes to see a little more clearly, although he tried, as every Kafir chief will do, to argue through the whole subject; but his feet were soon struck from under him, and he was left without any plea in extenuation of his people's conduct.

On Monday the 13th he came again, when I pointed out to him the consequences which must result to himself and tribe by allowing his people to rob and plunder without restraint. He professed to be very thankful to me for showing him these things, as much so as though he had never seen or thought of them before. He also said, "You have done right in not leaving Butterworth; by remaining you have helped me, and to-day you are 'Hinza.'"

After arguing through the whole subject, I brought him to the business part of the question, and having had an intimation that he intended to request me to write to your Excellency on behalf of Sandili, I anticipated him by distinctly telling him that the only way for him to gain your Excellency's ear on any subject was for him first to make all matters right concerning himself. To this he replied by saying, "I will make my people pay for all the shops plundered in my country."

He wished me to recall Mr. Fynn. To this request I refused to accede. I told him that he had driven him away by not acting promptly when the first shop was robbed, and he must call him back. To this he agreed, and he appointed a man to go for him.

Not knowing the course your Excellency might deem proper to pursue towards Rili, I endeavoured to impress upon him the importance of sending men, as requested by your Excellency, when to them every point would be fully explained.

I then called his attention to another subject on which I thought your Excellency would require some explanation — viz., the Hottentots in his country. I told him to prepare his answer on that point, as your Excellency would hold him responsible for the mischief they had done while in his country, and also direct him as to his future course towards them.

In order properly to adjust and finally to settle the respective claims of the several traders, I proposed to them conjointly that Rili should request from your Excellency the appointment of two or three gentlemen as a Commission to aid Mr. Fynn in effecting this object. To this arrangement all agreed, but Rili requests a little time. He says that while the country is excited by war, it is difficult to levy fines on his people. "Let the country settle down, and then I will make them pay for the injury done."

After thus conversing with Rili, I told him he had better not give his decision until he had well thought over the subject, and when he had thought it over and talked with his counsellors, he might bring his decision to me. To this he replied by saying that he would return to Bookoo, and lay the whole case before him, and together they would give their decision.

In order to save time, I sent men with Rili: these men returned this morning with the answer; and as they wished these messengers to be sent to your Excellency, I now send them accordingly, that your Excellency may hear from them the message of Rili and Bookoo. One of the men is a distant relation of the chief, and they have both been of great service in bringing the chief to a right mind.

In the absence of Mr. Fynn, or of any instructions from your Excellency, I have placed myself in the position of mediator; but in doing this, I have been careful to impress upon the mind of the chief that justice towards those who had been robbed and plundered in his country would be demanded from him, and I have endeavoured to put this matter in train. I therefore hope that what I have done will meet with your Excellency's approbation, and I shall most cheerfully use my influence to bring about a proper settlement of the whole question.

My own views of Rili are, that he is much humbled and altered; but your Excellency will see Mr. Conway and Gonyama, as well as the messengers sent, from all of whom your Excellency will learn many particulars. But whatever may be the future course of the Kafirs, at the present time they desire peace.

I believe Rili to be the key-note in Kafirland, and that note quite harmonizes with that object. But this has been produced by the late unmusical sound of cannon and small arms in the Amatola Mountains.

I am, &c.

GREAT EXHIBITION.

Report of Viscount Canning, President of the Council of Chairmen of Juries, on presenting the Awards of the Juries to the Royal Commission.

Having had the honour of acting as President of the Council of Chairmen of the Juries, it falls to me to lay before your Royal Highness and Her Majesty's Commissioners the Reports of the several Juries upon the subjects submitted to them for examination, and the names of the exhibitors whom they have judged entitled to rewards.

In doing so, it will be convenient that I should state briefly the Principle upon which, by the authority of Her Majesty's Commissioners, the Juries were constituted.

The various subjects included in the Exhibition were divided, in the first instance, into Thirty Classes. Of these, two were subsequently found to embrace fields of action too large for Single Juries, and were therefore divided into Sub-Juries. This increased the number of Acting Juries to Thirty-four.

Each of these Thirty-four Juries consisted of an equal number of British subjects and of Foreigners. The British Jurors were selected by Her Majesty's Commissioners from lists furnished by the Local Committees of various towns, each town being invited to recommend persons of skill and information in the manufactures or produce for which it is remarkable. The Foreign Jurors were appointed by authorities in their own countries, in such relative proportion amongst themselves as was agreed upon by the Foreign Commissioners sent here to represent their respective Governments.

In the event of a Jury finding themselves deficient in technical knowledge of any article submitted to them, they were empowered to call in the aid of Associates. These Associates, who acted as advisers only, without a vote, but whose services were of the greatest value, were selected either from the Jurymen of other classes, or from lists of persons who had been recommended as Jurors, but who had not been permanently appointed to any Jury.

Each Jury was superintended by a Chairman, chosen from its number by Her Majesty's Commissioners. The Deputy Chairman and the Reporter were elected by the Jurors themselves.

Such was the constitution of the Thirty-four Juries taken singly. They did not, however, act independently of each other, inasmuch as they were associated into six Groups, each Group consisting of such Juries as had to deal with subjects in some degree of kindred nature; and before any decision of a Jury could be considered as final, it was required that it should be brought before the assembled Group of which that Jury formed a part, and that it should be approved by them.

The chief object of this provision was that none of the many Foreign Nations taking part in the Exhibition should incur the risk of seeing its interests overlooked or neglected from the accident (an unavoidable one in many instances) of its being unrepresented in any particular Jury.

Each Group of Juries received the assistance of a Deputy Commissioner and of a Special Commissioner, appointed by Her Majesty's Commissioners to record its proceedings, to furnish information respecting the arrangements of the Exhibition, and otherwise to facilitate the labours of the Juries composing the Group.

It was further determined by Her Majesty's Commissioners, that the Chairmen of the Juries, consisting of British subjects and of Foreigners in equal numbers, should be formed into a Council; and that the duties of the Council should be, to determine the conditions upon which, in accordance with certain general principles previously laid down by Her Majesty's Commissioners, the different Prizes should be awarded; to frame rules to guide the working of the Juries; and to secure, as far as possible, uniformity in the result of their proceedings.

These are the most important features of the system upon which the Jurors found themselves organized. I will now refer briefly to their course of action.

The Council of Chairmen, in proceeding to the discharge of their duties, were met at the outset by a serious difficulty. Her Majesty's Commissioners had expressed themselves desirous that merit should be rewarded wherever it presented itself; but anxious at the same time to avoid the recognition of competition between individual Exhibitors. They had also decided that the Prizes should consist of three Medals of different sizes; and that these should be awarded, not as first, second, and third in degree for the same class of subjects and merit, but as marking merit of different kinds and character.

The Council of Chairmen found, to their regret, that it would be impossible to lay down any rules for the awarding of the three Medals by which the appearance at least of denoting different degrees of success amongst Exhibitors in the same branch of production could be avoided. Accordingly, after fully explaining their difficulty to Her Majesty's Commissioners, they requested, as a course by which it might be materially diminished, that one of the Medals might be withdrawn.

Of the remaining two, they suggested that one, the Prize Medal, should be conferred wherever a certain standard of excellence in production or workmanship had been attained—utility, beauty, cheapness, adaptation to particular markets, and other elements of merit being taken into consideration according to the nature of the object; and they recommended that this Medal should be awarded by the Juries, subject to confirmation by the Groups.

In regard to the other and larger Medal, they suggested that the conditions of its award should be some important novelty of invention or application, either in material, or processes of manufacture, or originality combined with great beauty of design; but that it should not be conferred for excellence of production or workmanship alone, however eminent: and they further suggested that this Medal should be awarded by the Council of Chairmen upon the recommendation of a Jury, supported by its Group.

The principle thus described met the views of Her Majesty's Commissioners, and was subsequently further developed by them in a Minute which they communicated to the Council of Chairmen. (See APPENDIX C.) Its application, however, was not without difficulties, especially as regarded the Foreign Jurors. Many of these had taken part in the National Exhibitions of France and Germany; and to them the distinctive character of the two Medals, and the avoidance of all recognition of degrees of merit between the recipients of prizes, were novel principles, and at variance with their experience; inasmuch as one of the chief purposes of the National Exhibitions of the Continent has been to distinguish the various degrees of success attained by rival exhibitors.

It was to be expected, therefore, that cases would arise in which the Council Medal, as the higher reward, would be asked for Exhibitors whose claims were only somewhat stronger in degree, without differing in kind from those of others to whom the Prize Medal had been awarded. In such cases it became the duty of the Council of Chairmen to refuse their sanction to the award of the Council Medal; without, however, necessarily impugning the alleged superiority of the article for which it was demanded. On the other hand, some instances have occurred in which they have felt themselves called upon to confirm the claim to a Council Medal where the object for which it was claimed showed, in itself, less merit of execution or manufacture than others of its class. It follows, therefore, that the award of a Council Medal does not necessarily stamp its recipient as a better manufacturer or producer than others who have received the Prize Medal. It is rather a mark of such invention, ingenuity, or originality as may be expected to exercise an influence upon industry, more extended, and more important, than could be produced by mere excellence of manufacture.

This is to be borne in mind in considering the List of awards which I have the honour to lay before your Royal Highness; and I trust that it will be found that the Juries have succeeded in doing justice to the Exhibitors of every Nation and Class, and that they have not departed in any important degree from the purpose of Her Majesty's Commissioners.

One of the first instructions addressed to the Juries by the Council of Chairmen was to the effect that the Prizes should be awarded without reference to the country of the Exhibitors, the Exhibition being considered in this respect as recognizing no distinction of Nations.

It is gratifying to add that the Jurors of every country cordially acquiesced in this principle, and that notwithstanding unavoidable differences of opinion, uninterrupted harmony prevailed amongst them throughout the whole course of their labours. It is not too much to hope that the happy influence of this intercourse may extend and endure far beyond the present occasion.

It is not necessary that I should detain your Royal Highness and Her Majesty's Commissioners with a recital of the other instructions framed by the Council of Chairmen for the guidance of the Juries, or with a detailed account of their proceedings in the discharge of their own functions.

The number of Prize Medals awarded is 2918.

The number of Council Medals is 170.

It is important to observe that no more than one Medal of either denomination has been allotted to one Exhibitor in the same Class, although he may have contributed to that Class more than one article deserving of reward.

The Juries have found it just, in framing their Reports, to make Honourable Mention of certain Exhibitors whose contributions were not such as to entitle them to receive a Medal. Some have supplied specimens of raw materials, which, although curious and instructive, do not imply any great merit of production on the part of the Exhibitor; and others have furnished articles of manufacture which, without reaching a high degree of excellence, are interesting as examples of the processes, or present condition of the trades which they illustrate.

Before concluding, I trust I may be allowed to add that it would be difficult duly to estimate the time and labour expended by the Jurors in their endeavour to discharge faithfully the important duty confided to them. The number of Exhibitors was about 17,000. Of these many, who were reckoned but once in the Catalogue, contributed a large variety of objects, and came within the province of more than one Jury; whilst in other cases, towns, and even whole countries, were counted as single Exhibitors, although they presented for examination every kind of manufacture and raw produce which their ingenuity and natural resources could furnish. Upon the whole, the task of the Juries involved the consideration and judgment of at least a million articles; the difficulties attending it being not a little increased by the want of a uniform system of classification of the subjects in some of the foreign divisions, and by unavoidable imperfections in the Catalogue.

In these circumstances the Juries can scarcely venture to hope that accidental omissions may not have occurred; but they have the satisfaction of feeling that these, if any, are not attributable to a want of care or diligence on their part.

It now only remains for me, in laying the result of our labours respectfully before your Royal Highness and Her Majesty's Commissioners, to offer, on behalf of my Colleagues and myself, our grateful acknowledgment of the honourable confidence which you have placed in us, and to express the hope that we shall be found to have fulfilled our trust in a manner worthy of the noble undertaking in which we are proud to have been called upon to bear a part.

5. The Articles in the Building are arranged as much as possible in the 30 Classes so as to be coincident with the field of action of each Jury, and to facilitate its labours.

6. If Exhibitors accept the office of Jurors, they cease to be competitors for prizes in the class to which they are appointed, and these cannot be awarded either to them individually, or to the firms in which they may be partners.

7. Juries may take evidence when a majority of the Jury deem it advisable, and name the persons to be consulted. Jurors of another class may also be called in aid by a Jury, when a knowledge involved in that class is required.

8. Juries may act in matters of detail by subcommittees, but no award can be made except by the majority of the Jury.

9. Before a Jury can finally make its awards, they must be submitted to a meeting of the Juries of allied subjects, as indicated in the groups in the Decision 3. These Meetings of allied Juries will have power to confirm the award of the Juries, and to investigate any disputed decisions. Before, however, the awards are published, they must be submitted to a Council, consisting of the Chairmen of the Juries, in order to secure uniformity of action —and a compliance with the regulations originally laid down by that body.

10. The awards of a Jury, when reported by the Council of Chairmen as being made in conformity to the rules, are final.

11. The Juries will commence their duties on Monday the 12th May, at 10 o'clock, and will be aided in the general transaction of the business by a person to be named by the Royal Commissioners, who by himself, or by a deputy to be approved of by the Commission, may be present at their deliberations, for the purpose of explaining the rules of the Commission. This Nominee of the Commission will not have a vote in any of the Juries, or at all interfere in the adjudication of awards.

Constitution of Juries.

12. The Jury will in general consist of an equal number of British subjects and of Foreigners.*

* The following list contains the actual number of the Jurors sent by each country:—

Austria	17	Russia	7
Belgium	14	Sicily	1
Denmark	1	Spain	4
Egypt	2	Switzerland	7
France	38	Sweden	1
Great Britain	160	Turkey	5
Greece	1	United States	23
North Germany	2	Zollverein	24
Holland	2
Italy	6	Total	318
Portugal	2

13. If Foreign Commissions do not send a sufficient number of Foreigners to represent one half of the Jurors in each Class, the deficient numbers may be completed by the appointment of British subjects.

14. Country as well as metropolitan districts will be represented on the Jury.

15. Each Jury will be presided over by a Chairman to be nominated by the Commissioners, and he will be aided by a Deputy Chairman to be elected by the Jury.

16. Juries may appoint one of their own body as a reporter.

Council of Chairmen.

17. The Chairmen of the Thirty Juries will be associated as a body, to be called the "Council of Chairmen."

18. In the absence of a Chairman, the Deputy Chairman will take his seat at the Council.

19. The Council of Chairmen will be constituted, as far as practicable, of British subjects and Foreigners in equal numbers.

20. The first and chief duties of the Council of Chairmen will be to frame the rules for the guidance of the Juries.

21. The Council will also have to determine the conditions under which the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd Class Medals respectively are to be awarded, and to define the general principles to which it will be advisable to conform in the awards in the several departments of the Exhibition. It is the wish of the Commission that Medals should be awarded to articles possessing decided superiority, of whatever nature that superiority may be, and not with reference to a merely individual competition. The three Classes of Medals are intended to distinguish the respective characters of subjects, and not as first, second, and third in degree for the same class of subjects.*

* The following decisions relative to Prizes and Juries already published, are repeated for the purpose of more detailed information :—

"Her Majesty's Commissioners have had under their consideration the subject of the Prizes to be awarded to exhibitors, and have resolved to take immediate steps for having (three) Medals struck of various sizes and different designs, it being their opinion that this is the form in which it will, generally speaking, be most desirable that the rewards should be distributed. They have decided to select bronze for the material in which the Medals are to be executed, considering that metal to be better calculated than any other for the development of superior skill and ingenuity in the medallic art, and at the same time the most likely to constitute a lasting memorial of the Exhibition.

"With regard to the mode in which the Prizes are to be awarded, the Commissioners think it inexpedient to establish beforehand rules so precise as to fetter the discretion of the Juries upon which the task will ultimately devolve. It will be sufficient for the present to indicate the general principle to which it will probably be advisable to conform in the award of Prizes for successful competition in the several departments of the Exhibition.

"In the department of Raw Materials and Produce, for instance, Prizes will be awarded upon a consideration of the value and importance of the article, and the superior excellence of the particular specimens exhibited; and in the case of prepared materials, coming under this head of the Exhibition, the Juries will take into account the novelty and importance of the prepared product, and the superior skill and ingenuity manifested in the process of preparation.

"In the department of Machinery, the Prizes will be given with reference to novelty in the invention, superiority in the execution, increased efficiency, or increased economy, in the use of the article exhibited. The importance, in a social or other point of view, of the purposes to which the article is to be applied, will also be taken into consideration, as will also the amount of the difficulties overcome in bringing the invention to perfection.

"In the department of Manufactures, those articles will be rewarded which fulfil in the highest degree the conditions specified in the sectional list, viz. :—Increased usefulness, such as permanency in dyes, improved forms and arrange-

22. The Council of Chairmen must see that the awards of the individual Juries are in accordance with the rules, before they are considered final.

23. Although the Commissioners may be disposed under peculiar circumstances, as set forth in ments in articles of utility, &c. Superior quality, or superior skill in workmanship. New use of known materials. Use of new materials. New combinations of materials, as in metals and pottery. Beauty of design in form, or colour, or both, with reference to utility. Cheapness, relatively to excellence of production.

"In the department of SCULPTURE, MODELS, AND THE PLASTIC ART, the rewards will have reference to the beauty and originality of the specimens exhibited, to improvements in the processes of production, to the application of art to manufactures, and, in the case of Models, to the interest attaching to the subject they represent.

"These general indications are sufficient to show that it is the wish of the Commissioners, as far as possible, to reward all articles in any department of the Exhibition which may appear to competent judges to possess any decided superiority, of whatever nature that superiority may be. It is the intention of the Commissioners to reward excellence in whatever form it is presented, and not to give inducements to the distinctions of a merely individual competition. Although the Commissioners have determined on having three Medals of different sizes and designs, they do not propose to instruct the Juries to award them as first, second, and third in degree for the same class of subjects. They do not wish to trammel the Juries by any precise limitation; but they consider that the Juries will rather view the three kinds of Medals as a means of appreciating and distinguishing the respective characters of the subjects to be rewarded, and not of making distinctive marks in the same Class of Articles exhibited. They fully recognise that excellence of production is not only to be looked for in high-priced goods, in which much cost of labour and skill has been employed, but they encourage the exhibition of low-priced fabrics, when combining quality with lowness of price, or with novelty of production. They can readily conceive that Juries will be justified in giving the same class Medal to the cheapest Calico Print, made for the Brazilian or other South American market, as they would to the finest piece of Mousseline de Soie or Mousseline de Laine, if each possessed excellence of its own kind."

the undermentioned decision,* to consider the propriety of pecuniary grants to individual exhibitors, they will only take such applications into consideration on the recommendation of the several Juries, sanctioned by the Council of Chairmen.

24. As some of the most important duties of the Council of Chairmen are preliminary to the action of the Juries, it is necessary that they should meet one week previous to the assembling of the Juries. The duties of the Council will therefore commence on Monday, the 5th of May.

25. In order to represent the wishes of the Commission, and to explain its rules, a nominee of the Commission will attend the meetings of the Council, and aid it in the transaction of business; but he will not possess a vote, or act as a member of the Council.

* "Lastly, the Commissioners in announcing their intention of giving Medal Prizes, do not propose altogether to exclude pecuniary grants, either as Prizes for successful competition, or as awards under special circumstances, accompanying, and in addition to the honorary distinction of the Medal. There may be cases in which, on account of the condition of life of the successful competitor (as for instance, in the case of workmen), the grant of a sum of money may be the most appropriate reward of superior excellence; and there may be other cases of a special and exceptional nature, in which, from a consideration of the expense incurred in the preparation or transmission of a particular article entitled to a Prize, combined with a due regard to the condition and pecuniary circumstances of the party exhibiting, a special grant may with propriety be added to the honorary distinction. The Commissioners are not prepared, for the present, at least, to establish any regulations on these heads. They consider it probable that a wide discretion must be left to the Juries to be hereafter appointed in respect to the award of Money Prizes, or the grant of money in aid of honorary distinctions; it being understood that such discretion is to be exercised under the superintendence and control of the Commission."

Mode of Appointing English Jurors.

26. Those towns which exhibit to a considerable extent in any of the Classes will be invited to send a list of names of persons who would efficiently represent the knowledge of those Classes as Jurors.

27. It will be necessary to state, according to the classified Jury list, the subdivisions of the Class with which the person recommended is specially acquainted; and all nominations must be made in classes, and not in the aggregate.

28. As it is necessary to reduce the lists to the standard number for each Jury, the Commission charges itself with this duty.

29. Those persons who have been recommended as Jurors, but who, from the small numbers of the Jury, are not placed on it, may, on the application of a Jury, be called in on special occasions, to give aid, under the title of Associates, but without a vote.

Mode of Appointing Foreign Jurors.

Note.—The decisions regarding Foreign Jurors are delayed until the opinions of the Agents of Foreign Commissions are obtained as to the proportions in which each nation should be represented in the respective classes, and as to the principles of nomination most agreeable to the countries which they represent.

Meeting of Juries.

31. The Jurors, on being appointed, will receive immediate notice of appointment, and their names will be published.

32. The Chairmen will be required to meet on Monday, the 5th May, at 10 o'clock.

33. The Juries will meet for the transaction of business, on Monday the 12th May, at 10 o'clock.

34. Although impossible to set apart special days in which the Juries alone can examine the Articles exhibited, to the exclusion of the public, arrangements will be made to carry on these examinations with as little inconvenience as possible.

35. Jurors, immediately on their arrival in London, are requested to report themselves at the Jury Office, in the Exhibition Building, where they will obtain their Juror's Ticket, and receive all necessary information.

APPENDIX B.—EXHIBITION OF 1851.

Instructions from the Council of Chairmen to the Juries.

1. In accordance with the decisions of the Royal Commissioners, the Council of Chairmen have met and agreed to the following Instructions as a guide to the Juries.

2. Working of Juries.—In regard to the working of the Juries, the Council of Chairmen think it advisable to leave much to the discretion and gradual experience of each Jury; but upon the following points the decisions of the Royal Commissioners are precise, and it will be desirable that the practice of the Juries should be uniform.

3. The Juries will, at their first meeting on Monday, consider the course to be followed in the examination of the subjects confided to them, and arrange generally the time and places for their respective meetings.

4. Deputy Chairmen.—The first duty of each Jury will be to elect a Deputy Chairman, who will assist the Chairman, and fill his place in the Jury, or at the Council, in his absence.

5. Reporters.—A Member of the Jury will be appointed to draw up a Report upon the Class of subjects submitted to it. It will be advisable that this appointment should be made as soon as the eligibility and willingness of some Member to undertake that duty can be ascertained. As the Reports will probably be published, they should be drawn up with the care necessary to describe the State of Industry of all Nations, as shown in this Exhibition, and in such a manner as may best form a permanent record of the Exhibition itself.

6. Sub-Committee.—The Royal Commissioners have given their sanction to Juries acting in matters of detail by Sub-Committees. How far it may be convenient in each case to adopt this system, and to depute to a Sub-Committee, or to individual Members, the investigation of particular objects, is left to the judgment of each Jury, but it must be borne in mind that no Award can be made but by a majority of the Jury.

7. Evidence and Associates.—When a Jury may wish to call in the aid of persons of technical knowledge to aid their judgment, they may do so in conformity with the 29th Article of the General Decisions.

8. Jurors of another Class, when knowledge of that Class is required to guide the Jury, may be called in if a majority of the Jury should decide to do so.

9. In both the above cases, however, the persons to be consulted do not possess votes, and only remain associated with the Jury as long as the special occasion for which they were called requires their presence.

10. Juries to carry on their Investigations without delay.—The Juries are expected to carry on their investigation with as little intermission, and to come to their decision with as little delay as possible.

11. Mode of making Awards.—When a Jury has decided upon its Awards, those Awards will be submitted to a Meeting of all the Juries of the same group for confirmation, and for the investigation of any Decision that may be disputed.

12. The Awards will then be submitted to the Council of Chairmen, to secure uniformity of action, and a compliance with the Rules now laid down, or which may hereafter be sanctioned by the Council.

13. The Awards will become final as soon as the Council of Chairmen shall have reported that they are in conformity to those Rules.

14. Secresy.—All the Considerations, Discussions, and Decisions of each Jury and of the Council of Chairmen are to be considered as strictly confidential, and on no account to be divulged until the Award has become final.

15. Medals to be awarded without reference to Nationality.—The Medals will be awarded for excellence only, without reference to countries, the Exhibition being considered as a whole, and not as consisting of the products of different nations.

16. Individual competition to be avoided.—In making the Awards the Juries will bear in mind that the Royal Commissioners desire that the different Medals should indicate different kinds of merit, and not degrees in the same kind of merit.

17. Two Medals only to be awarded.—The Juries will only have to award the medium size and large Medal. The small Medal will not be given by the Juries, the Commission having withdrawn it as a Prize Medal, at the request of the Council of Chairmen.

18. Conditions for the Award of the Medals.—The medium size (or, as it is proposed to be called, the "Prize Medal"), will be awarded by the Juries in conformity with the decisions laid down in the paper issued by the Royal Commissioners, with the general indications contained in these directions.

19. The great Medal can be finally awarded only by the Council of Chairmen, upon recommendations made to that body by the allied Juries referred to in Decision 9.

20. Each Jury must obtain the sanction of its own group of Juries to its recommendation of the great Medal, before the Council of Chairmen can take the award into consideration. The grounds on which this recommendation is made must be fully stated. The great Medal will only be given for very pre-eminent and indisputable merit. It is impossible, until the Juries have acquired a knowledge of the articles exhibited, to define the proportion of the great to the Prize Medal; but the Council of Chairmen have to announce their intention of making the proportion a very small one.

21. The Chairmen of the groups of Prizes have had under their consideration the various conditions which it will be advisable to adopt in the award of Prizes in the various classes into which the Exhibition is divided. They do not intend that these conditions should be compulsory on the Juries, as it is probable that they may require modification in particular cases, but they may be useful as indications to show the general grounds on which awards may be made.

Group A.

Medals are to be awarded for novelty in the mode of obtaining, applying, and adapting Raw Materials and Produce, skill and excellence in known modes of obtaining, applying, or adapting them; comparative excellence in the quality obtained, combined with utility. The value of the instructiveness of any Series exhibited.

Group B.

The Sub-Committee of the Chairmen of this Group, for certain reasons set forth in their Report (see Report), strongly urge that if novelty of invention (as far as regards Machinery) be not altogether excluded, the greatest caution should be used, and the most jealous scrutiny employed by Jurors before any Prize whatever be awarded under such claims for merit.

Class V.—Machines for Direct Use.

Fitness of the work for the object sought to be obtained (which combines almost every merit of Machinery), economy in first cost, durability, economy of maintenance, excellence of workmanship.

Successful application of any new Material, with elegance of design and excellence of workmanship, strength and lightness, reasonable cheapness.

Note.—These qualities will apply almost exclusively to Carriages of luxury.

For the Public Service.—Lightness, sufficient solidity for safety, durability, cheapness.

Class VI.—Manufacturing Machines and Tools.

Fitness of the Machinery for the objects sought, economy in the first cost, durability, and excellence of workmanship; economy in production, and perfection in articles manufactured; saving in time, and quantity produced; economy of maintenance.

Class VII.—Civil Engineering, Architectural and Building Contrivances.

Science and skill in Design to obtain the object sought with the greatest economy; fitness in the application of Materials, success in the work in which the Model or Drawing is exhibited; perfection of workmanship in the Model or Drawing exhibited.

Class VIII.—Naval Architecture, and Military Engineering, Ordnance, Armour, and Accoutrements.

Merits of combination in the Models or Drawings relating to Military or Naval Engineering; advantages obtained by experiments in carrying out the means proposed either by Models or Drawings. Improvements in Arms, Apparatus, or any articles belonging to Military and Naval Service or Architecture, to Rigging or other branches of Seamanship, to Accoutrements or Equipments of Troops, their fitness and efficacy; economy in production.

Class IX.

In this class actual trial has been found generally necessary for the safe award of Prizes; Field Instruments being tried on the land, and Yard Implements being also set to work, and the results exhibited in Numerical Tables.

Class X.—Philosophical Instruments.

Novelty of inventions, or novelty in the whole or part of the instruments; ingenuity of construction; new application of old principles; application of new principles; improved beauty of form; increased durability, and more extensive application.

Novelty of invention, novel application of old inventions, improvement of mechanical action. Tone, perfection of workmanship, beauty of design combined with general excellence, increased facility of action, cheapness combined with durability.

Ascertained or probable accuracy and certainty of performance, whether time-keeping, discharging of striking parts, or registering; stability, strength and durability, simplicity and economy of construction, goodness of execution. High finish to be considered subordinate to the scientific objects.

For instruments which possess novelty of a useful character, and giving evidence of originality and inventive power, ingenuity in the application, extension, or modification of principles already known, or for new combinations, mechanical skill, including cheapness, finish, and other qualities of mechanical execution.

Group C.—Manufactures. Textile Fabrics.

In this, those articles will be rewarded which fulfil in the highest degree the conditions specified in the sectional list, namely, increased usefulness, such as permanency in dyes, improved forms and arrangements in articles of utility, &c.; superior quality, or superior skill in workmanship; new use of known materials; use of new materials; new combinations of materials; beauty of design in form or colour, or both, with reference to utility; cheapness relatively to excellence of production.

Group D.—Metallic, Vitreous, and Ceramic Manufacture.

Important inventions and discoveries, or regularity combined with excellence of design; novel application of known discoveries; great utility combined with economy and beauty; excellence of workmanship and quality.

Group E.—Miscellaneous.

Novelty of material in application, excellence of design, material, workmanship, and cheapness.

Group F.—Fine Arts.

Originality and excellence of design and importance of the work, combined with great merit of execution; merit in execution, combined with application to useful purposes.

APPENDIX C.

Minute of Royal Commission on the Award of the Council Medal.

"With reference to the awards of the Council Medal, the Commissioners think it proper to recapitulate the terms of those Decisions, and to explain with somewhat greater minuteness the exact meaning which they intended to attach to them.

"The 107th of the published Decisions of the Commissioners is as follows:—

"'It is the intention of the Commissioners to reward excellence in whatever form it is presented, and not to give inducements to the distinctions of a merely individual competition. Although the Commissioners have determined on having three Medals of different sizes and designs, they do not propose to instruct the Juries to award them as first, second, and third in degree for the same class of subjects. They do not wish to trammel the Juries by any precise limitation; but they consider that the Juries will rather view the three kinds of Medals as a means of appreciating and distinguishing the respective characters of the subjects to be rewarded, and not of making distinctive marks in the same Class of Articles exhibited.'

"And the 21st Article of the Decisions regarding Juries is this:—

"'The three classes of Medals are intended to distinguish the respective characters of subjects, and not as first, second, and third in degree for the same class of subjects.'

"The important feature in these Decisions, and that which distinguishes the mode of granting Medals on the present occasion from that usually adopted in the Exhibitions in Foreign Countries, the announcement that the Medals are not to be awarded 'as first, second, or third in degree for the same class of subjects.' It is obvious, therefore, that in the case of manufactured Articles, mere excellence of manufacture, being in other words a mere difference in degree between subjects included in the same class, cannot be rewarded with a Council Medal without a deviation from the principle of this decision. If, however, there is any novelty of invention or adaptation, or any peculiarity in the mode of manufacture, which can also be taken into account, and of which the importance and value shall be judged sufficient, the Council Medal may properly be given.

"Thus, for example, if a piece of Linen be exhibited of such remarkable excellence as to be at once and by unanimous consent recognized as greatly superior to any other piece of Linen in the whole Exhibition, yet if the ordinary processes only have been employed in its production, and if it be not distinguished by any originality in the design applied to it, it ought not to have a Council Medal, however great may have been the care and labour bestowed upon it. But if, on the other hand, a piece of Linen of very decided excellence should be produced by a new method, exhibiting advantages not hitherto attained, it would be quite within the spirit of the Decision in question that such method should be rewarded with a Council Medal.

"Or again, if a sample of Sugar of extraordinary fineness should be exhibited, if such fineness were the result only of the application of the ordinary processes, with more than ordinary care and skill, it ought not to have the Council Medal; but if a new chemical agent or a new process had been employed with advantage in its production, the process by which it was produced, if sufficiently important, would be eligible to receive it.

"It is not, however, intended to limit the granting of the Council Medal to cases of production by a new process: such a rule would, of course, not apply where the question of Fine Art was involved. In judging of works of pure art, the Medal will, of course, be given to those cases were the most remarkable and pre-eminent genius has been displayed; and in cases where design is applied to an article of Manufacture, it may sometimes happen that it will be of sufficient originality and importance to justify the grant of a Council Medal as an acknowledgment of the taste displayed.

"Thus, for instance, a piece of Porcelain or a piece of Tapestry, though they could not receive the Council Medal for the mere excellence of the workmanship, might properly receive it for a very extraordinary and original merit of the design applied to them. And, in like manner, though a Council Medal ought not to be given to a piece of Furniture, of which the principal merit was that it was well made, it might be awarded to it if there were so much beauty in the design as to entitle it to great distinction as a Work of Art.

"The Commissioners must, however, limit themselves by observing that they would not recognize beauty of design as a sufficient title to a Council Medal, unless applied to an object of some importance. Very great merit might be found in the carving of an umbrella or a pipe, yet it might be thought improper to reward such merit with a Council Medal, on account of the comparative insignificance of the subject.

"This last observation naturally leads the Commissioners to offer some remarks upon another point on which it is possible that doubts may arise; namely, whether the fact of an Exhibitor having incurred great expense in the preparation of an Article for exhibition should entitle him to a Council Medal: as, for instance, in the case of the Exhibitors of valuable Raw products, of specimens of Manufactured Goods remarkable only for the size of the specimens, of very precious Jewels, or of collections of the productions of particular districts. In these cases the Commissioners are decidedly of opinion that the mere fact of a large outlay of money ought not to be regarded as entitling an Exhibitor to receive a Council Medal, though care should, of course, be taken, that his zealous co-operation in promoting the objects of the Exhibition be properly noticed in the Report of a Jury of his Class.

"In the foregoing remarks the Commissioners have repeatedly spoken of rewarding inventions and new processes. They think it right, therefore, to guard themselves against being supposed to throw upon the Juries the duty of discovering whether each particular object which they mark for reward is actually the invention of the party claiming the merit of it. They can conceive that, in many cases, such an investigation would, under the circumstances, be impossible. In Machinery, particularly, they presume that the Juries will reward an important machine without undertaking to pronounce whether the novelties exhibited in its construction have been originated by the Exhibitor, or have been borrowed or adapted by him from some one else. The test of invention will be satisfied if the Machine be rewarded for its importance and ingenuity, and not for the mere excellence of workmanship.

"As the Commissioners have referred to the claims of invention, it would appear to be desirable to fix some date beyond which invention should cease to be a claim for the Council Medal. It has not been made a condition in the admission of Articles to the Exhibition that they should be new; but it would be obviously difficult and inexpedient to discuss claims of invention made many years since. It appears to the Commissioners that, as most European States consider from fourteen to fifteen years a proper period for limiting by patents the use of an invention to the discoverer before it becomes the property of the public, this period would form a limit, beyond which the claims of invention should not be admitted.

"In communicating these remarks to the Council of Chairmen, the Royal Commissioners must again repeat that they are only anxious to obviate the danger of their published Decisions being misunderstood. The responsibility of giving effect to those Decisions must rest with the Council of Chairmen, in whom the control of the separate Juries, and more particularly the duty of regulating the distribution of the Council Medal, has been specially vested; and the Royal Commissioners would strongly impress upon them the responsibility under which they lie of exercising that control with care and firmness, according to the opinions which they may personally entertain of the merits of the several cases brought before them."

Answer of His Royal Highness Prince Albert to Lord Canning's Report.

My Lord,

The Royal Commissioners are much indebted to your Lordship, and to the distinguished gentlemen of this and other nations, who have acted on the Juries entrusted with the award of the Prizes in the recent Exhibition, for the zeal with which they have undertaken, and the ability with which they have fulfilled, the task which has been allotted to them. The Commissioners are sensible that the services of these gentlemen have in many instances been rendered at great inconvenience to themselves, and at the sacrifice of very valuable time, and of important avocations. It is with pride and pleasure, that they have noticed in the lists of those who have performed this service to the Exhibition, the names of men of every nation of the most exalted rank, and of the most eminent reputations in statesmanship, in science, in literature, in manufactures, in commerce, and in the fine arts; of men in every respect well calculated not only to form a correct technical judgment upon the merits of the articles submitted to their inspection, but also to maintain the high character which the Commissioners have uniformly striven to impart to the Exhibition.

In no department of the vast undertaking which has just been brought to a happy close, were greater difficulties to have been apprehended than in that in which your Lordship and your eminent colleagues have given your assistance. On this, the first occasion on which the productions of the different nations of the globe have ever been brought together for the purpose of comparing their several merits, not only were prejudices and jealousies to have been expected to interfere with the decisions, but the nature of the case presented many difficulties of a formidable character, to the formation of a judgment which should appear satisfactory to all. The names of the Jurors, indeed, when once made known, were of themselves a sufficient guarantee for that impartiality which was essential to the fulfilment of their task; and from all that has come to the knowledge of the Royal Commissioners during the progress of their labours, they are fully satisfied that every award has been made with the most careful consideration, after the most ample and laborious investigation, and upon grounds most strictly honourable, just, and candid.

But although the high character of the Jurors would have fully justified the Commissioners in entrusting them with the award of the Prizes without fettering their discretion with any instructions whatever, had nothing more than an impartial decision been required, there were difficulties of a very peculiar nature inherent to the task, which seemed to render necessary the adoption of some regulations that might, at first sight, appear to have been somewhat arbitrary in their character. The differences in the wants of various nations having necessarily impressed their several manufactures with different characteristics, it would seem to be almost impossible for those who have been in the habit of judging the productions of their own country by one standard, to enter fully into merits which can only be properly appreciated by another standard, since the very points which in the one case appear to be excellencies, may in the other, not unnaturally, be taken as defects. This consideration, and a knowledge of the evils which were to be apprehended from any accidentally erroneous decision, in a matter so intimately connected with the commercial interests of every nation, induced the Royal Commissioners to lay down, for the guidance of the Juries, those principles to which your Lordship has referred.

It would perhaps have been more interesting to the public had the Commissioners instructed the Juries to follow the practice which has usually prevailed in the Exhibitions of individual nations, and to grant medals of different degrees, to mark the gradations of excellence among the Exhibitors; but they feel that they have adopted the safer course, and that which was upon the whole most in accordance with the feelings of the majority of the Exhibitors, in directing that no distinction should be made between their merits if their productions came up to the standard requisite to entitle them to a Prize, but that all should without exception take the same rank and receive the same Medal.

The Commissioners, however, considered it right to place at the disposal of the Council of Chairmen a peculiar or "Council" Medal in the cases to which your Lordship has referred. Important discoveries in many branches of science and of manufactures have in this Exhibition been brought under the notice of the public; and it seems just that those who have rendered services of this kind to the world, should receive a special mark of acknowledgment on an occasion which has rendered so conspicuous the advantages which the many have derived from the discoveries of the few.

The grant of the Council Medal for beauty of design, and for excellence in the fine arts, as applied to manufactures, though made upon a somewhat different principle, is also compatible with the views of the Commissioners, since in the cases in which it has been given it does not mark any greater comparative excellence of manufacture, or assign to one producer a higher place than is accorded to others, but is to be regarded as a testimony to the genius which can clothe the articles required for the use of daily life with beauty that can please the eye, and instruct and elevate the mind. Valuable as this Exhibition has proved in many respects, it appears to the Commissioners that there is no direction in which its effects will be more sensibly and immediately perceived than in the improvement which it may be expected to produce in taste, and the impulse it has given to the arts of design; and a special acknowledgment is justly due to those who have afforded the best examples of art, whether pure or applied, and led the way in this interesting career of improvement.

It now remains for the Commissioners once more to return to your Lordship and your Colleagues their cordial thanks; and they must not omit to include in these acknowledgments those gentlemen who have in various ways assisted you in your labours, particularly those who have acted with you as Associates or Experts for the purpose of assisting your judgment in matters requiring very minute and special knowledge of particular subjects; and the Commission are well aware that these gentlemen have frequently been of the greatest service. In the hope that the Jurors and Associates might desire to possess a lasting memorial of the Exhibition, a Special Medal has been struck in commemoration of their important services.

It is the intention of the Commissioners to publish not only the names of those to whom the Juries have awarded Prizes, but also the valuable Reports which they have prepared on the state of science, art, and manufactures, in the several branches of the Exhibition with which the Juries have been conversant. The Royal Commissioners fully appreciate the zeal and talent displayed by those Jurors who have accepted the laborious office of Reporters to the Juries; and they doubt not that their Reports will form most interesting records of this Exhibition, and will afford important materials for ascertaining the progress of human industry, at any future time, when another review of its productions, like the present, may be determined on.

It now becomes my pleasing duty on behalf of the Royal Commissioners, to deliver my most sincere acknowledgments and thanks for the hearty co-operation and support which the Exhibition has constantly received from Foreign Countries. The Foreign Commissioners, who have left their own countries to superintend the illustration of their respective national industries at the Exhibition, have ever shown that desire to aid the general arrangements which alone has rendered possible the success of the undertaking.

To the Society of Arts, which by its exhibition of works of national industry, prepared the way for this international Exhibition, the Royal Commission and the public feel that their acknowledgments are especially due, and the Commission have to thank that body for having carried out the preliminary arrangements to an extent which justified me as their President in the application which I made to the Crown for the issue of a Royal Commission.

The Commission have also to acknowledge the valuable services afforded by the eminent scientific and professional men who, on the Sectional Committees, aided most materially in founding a scientific basis on which to rear the Exhibition.

To the Local Commissioners and members of Local Committees, but more especially to those who have undertaken the onerous duties of Secretaries, our best acknowledgments are also due. Without their zealous aid it would have been impossible to have obtained an efficient representation of the industrial products of their respective localities.

And finally, we cannot forget that all the labours of those thus officially connected with the Exhibition would have been in vain, had it not been for the hearty good will and assistance of the whole body of Exhibitors, both Foreign and British. The zeal which they have displayed in affording a worthy illustration of the state of the industry of the nations to which they belong, can only be equalled by the successful efforts of their industrial skill. The Commission have always had support and encouragement from them during the progress of the undertaking, and they cannot forget how cheerfully they submitted to regulations essential for their general good, although sometimes producing personal inconvenience to themselves. If the Exhibition be successful in aiding the healthy progress of manufactures, we trust that their efforts will meet with a due reward.

In now taking leave of all those who have so materially aided us in their respective characters of Jurors and Associates, Foreign and Local Commissioners, Members and Secretaries of Local and Sectional Committees, Members of the Society of Arts, and Exhibitors, I cannot refrain from remarking, with heartfelt pleasure, the singular harmony which has prevailed amongst the eminent men representing so many national interests—a harmony which cannot end with the event which produced it. Let us receive it as an auspicious omen for the future; and while we return our humble and hearty thanks to Almighty God for the blessing He has vouchsafed to our labours, let us all earnestly pray that that Divine Providence which has so benignantly watched over and shielded this illustration of Nature's productions, conceived by human intellect and fashioned by human skill, may still protect us, and may grant that this interchange of knowledge, resulting from the meeting of enlightened people in friendly rivalry, may be dispersed far and wide over distant lands; and thus, by showing our mutual dependance upon each other, be a happy means of promoting unity among nations, and peace and good-will among the various races of mankind.

Then follow the Tables containing the Awards made by the several Juries, from which the following Alphabetical List has been compiled, showing the Name, Nation, Class, and Number in the Official Catalogue, of the Individual, Company, or Society to whom a Council or Prize Medal has been awarded, as published by the Commissioners in the London Gazette.

Whereas by an Act passed in the session of Parliament held in the second and third years of Her Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act for regulating the Police Courts in the Metropolis," it was amongst other things enacted that it should be lawful for Her Majesty, with the advice of Her Privy Council, to alter the number of magistrates appointed to any of the said Courts; and whereas it was declared by an Order in Council, dated the eighth day of January one thousand eight hundred and fifty, that it is expedient that the number of magistrates should be reduced to twenty, as vacancies among the said magistrates shall occur; and whereas by the same Order Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, was pleased to order and direct that a vacancy then existing at one of the said Courts (that is to say), at the Southwark Police Court, shall not be supplied; and whereas it has been found that the number of the police magistrates cannot be reduced as is proposed in the said recited Order without detriment to the police service, and Her Majesty has been advised that the vacancy at the said Southwark Police Court should be filled up; Her Majesty, therefore, is pleased, with the advice of Her Privy Council, to order and direct, and it is hereby ordered and directed, that the said Order in Council, of the eighth day of January one thousand eight hundred and fifty, reducing the number of the said police magistrates, be rescinded and repealed.

CHAPTER of the Most Noble Order of the Garter.

A CHAPTER of the Most Noble Order of the Garter having been summoned for this day, the Knights Companions hereafter named, in their mantles and collars, assembled in St. George's Hall, viz.—

The Duke of Wellington, the Marquess of Anglesey, the Marquess of Lansdowne, the Marquess of Salisbury, the Duke of Cleveland, the Marquess Camden, the Marquess of Hertford, the Duke of Bedford, and the Duke of Norfolk, attended by the following officers, viz.: the Lord Bishop of Winchester, Prelate; the Lord Bishop of Oxford, Chancellor; Sir Charles George Young, Knt. Garter, Principal King of Arms; and Sir Augustus William James Clifford, Bart. Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod.

At one o'clock the Knights Companions were called over by Garter, when (Her Majesty and His Royal Highness Prince Albert having passed into the Throne-room) they proceeded, together with the Officers of the Order, through the Grand Reception-room into the Throne-room.

The Sovereign being seated in Her Chair of State, and His Royal Highness the Prince Albert at the table, on the right hand of Her Majesty, the other Knights Companions took their respective places at the table, the Prelate standing on the right hand and the Chancellor on the left hand of the Sovereign, Garter and Black Rod at the bottom of the table.

The Chancellor then signified to the Chapter Her Majesty's Royal will and pleasure that the vacant stall in the Royal Chapel of St. George, at Windsor, be filled, and as by the statutes a Knight only can be elected, the Right Honourable Charles William, Earl Fitzwilliam was introduced by Garter and Black Rod and knighted with the Sword of State, and his lordship having kissed the Sovereign's hand, retired.

The Knights Companions then proceeded to the election, and the suffrages having been collected by the Chancellor, were by him presented to the Sovereign, who commanded him to declare, and he accordingly did declare, that the Right Honour- Charles William, Earl Fitzwilliam had been duly elected a Knight of the Most Noble Order of the Garter.

Then, by the Sovereign's command, his Lordship was received at the door of the Chapter-room by the Dukes of Norfolk and Bedford, the two junior Knights Companions present, and conducted between them to Her Majesty, preceded by Garter (bearing the ensigns of the Order upon a crimson velvet cushion), and by Black Rod. Earl Fitzwilliam kneeling near the Sovereign, Garter on his knee presented the Garter, and Her Majesty, assisted by His Royal Highness Prince Albert and the Duke of Wellington, the two Senior Knights Companions present, buckled it on his Lordship's left leg, the Chancellor pronouncing the usual admonition.

Garter next presented, in like manner, the Ribband and George, and Her Majesty, assisted as before, put the same over his Lordship's left shoulder, the Chancellor pronouncing the admonition. Earl Fitzwilliam then again kissed Her Majesty's hand, and, having received the congratulations of each of the Knights Companions, retired.

The Chapter being ended, Garter, by Her Majesty's command, again called over the Knights Companions, who, with the Officers of the Order, retired from the presence of the Sovereign, with the usual reverences.

At the Court at Windsor Castle, November 4, 1851.

The Queen, as Sovereign of the Most Noble Order of the Garter, has been graciously pleased, by letters patent under Her royal sign manual and the great seal of the Order, bearing date this day, to dispense with all the statutes and regulations usually observed in regard to installation, and to grant unto the Right Honourable Charles

William, Earl Fitzwilliam, Knight of the said Most Noble Order and duly invested with the Ensigns thereof, full power and authority to exercise all rights and privileges belonging to a Knight Companion of the Most Noble Order of the Garter, in as full and ample a manner as if his Lordship had been formally installed, any decree, rule, or usage to the contrary notwithstanding.

MERCHANT SEAMEN'S FUND.

Board of Trade, Naval Department, December 8, 1851.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade have, in pursuance of the Act for winding up the Merchant Seamen's Fund, 14 and 15 Vict. c. 102, issued the following rules:—

T. H. Farrer, Secretary.

RULES for contributions to the Merchant Seamen's Fund, and for the granting of Pensions from that Fund.

To come into operation on the 1st January 1852.

Contributions to the Fund.

1. All masters and seamen who have contributed to the fund before the 8th August 1851 may, if they choose so to do, continue to contribute; but those who did not contribute before that day cannot now contribute or establish any claim upon the fund.

2. All future contributions are to be paid to the shipping masters appointed under the Mercantile Marine Act.

3. In the case of men who are discharged before a shipping master, the contributions are to be paid at the time of the discharge, and are to be proportioned to the length of the voyage, reckoning from the day of signing articles to the day of discharge inclusive, and are to be after the following rates, viz.:—

(a.) For a seaman,

1*s.* for each calendar month of the voyage or engagement, and for any broken period of a month exceeding 20 days;

6*d.* for any broken period of a month exceeding 10 and not exceeding 20 days;

4*d.* for any broken period of a month not exceeding 10 days;

(b.) For a master,

Double the above rates.

4. In the case of men who are not discharged before a shipping master, the contributions may be paid to any shipping master before whom the contributors may find it convenient to attend, and may be paid to him at such times as may be fixed by him. These contributions are to be after the following rates, viz.:—

(a.) For a seaman,

8*s.* for one year;

6*s.* for nine calendar months;

4*s.* for six calendar months;

2*s.* for three calendar months;

(b.) For a master,

Double the above rates.

These contributions must be paid quarterly in advance.

5. In the case of foreign-going ships which arrive after the 1st January 1852, having commenced the voyage before that day, the contribution will be payable for the whole period of the voyage according to Rule 3 above. In the case of home-trade ships, no contribution will be payable for the period intervening between the 8th August 1851 and the 1st January 1852.

6. If a contributor serves for part of any one year in foreign-going ships, and the remainder of the year in home-trade ships, he is to pay as follows: if he contributes 8*s*. or upwards whilst in foreign-going ships no further contributions will be required. If he contributes less than 8*s*. whilst in foreign-going ships, the sum which he pays in such ships is to be reckoned as a portion of the 8*s*. or 16*s*., as the case may be, which he would, if serving all the year in home-trade ships, have had to contribute, and, upon payment of the balance, his contribution for the year is to be considered complete.

7. Any man who has once contributed as master, or who once contributes as master, after the 1st January 1852, may continue to contribute thenceforth as master, and establish a master's claim on the fund, although acting as a seaman; but if after once contributing as master he ceases so to do, and contributes as a seaman, he will not be entitled to claim as a master.

8. If any master or seaman for three consecutive years previous to the termination of his service at sea fails to pay any contribution to the fund, he will no longer be allowed to contribute, and will forfeit all claim upon the fund, whatever his previous contributions may have been.

9. But if any master or seaman, who has not contravened Rule 8 by failing for three consecutive years previous to the termination of his last service at sea to pay any contribution to the fund, fails to pay the appointed contributions at the proper times, he will be required, before he can be allowed to make another payment, to pay up all arrears; and no claim for a pension can be established until such arrears are paid for the whole period previous to the termination of his last service at sea.

10. No pension can be granted to any master or seaman, or to his widow or children, upon any ground whatever, unless he has contributed for a period of at least sixty months, such contribution to have been made either before the 8th August 1851, or partly before and partly after that date.

11. If a master or seaman who has before the 8th August 1851 paid dues for sixty months or upwards, goes to sea again, and is, within three years from the 31st December 1851, killed or drowned in the merchant service without having in the meantime paid any voluntary contributions to the fund, his widow and children shall not on account of his so failing to become a voluntary contributor, lose their rights to pensions, provided their claims are in all other respects established as required by these rules.

12. Every master and seaman must, on paying his first voluntary contribution, state to the shipping master that he intends to be a voluntary contributor, and must produce his old register ticket to that officer, who will give him directions for procuring a new register ticket in exchange, called a fund ticket. If the master has no register ticket he must procure a fund ticket, for which purpose the shipping master will give him the necessary directions. This fund ticket must, on every occasion on which the contributor pays any contribution, be produced to the shipping master to whom he pays it, and the shipping master will enter on the back of the ticket each amount so paid. Masters and seamen who become voluntary contributors should take especial care to procure fund tickets, and to see that the amount of their contributions is entered on the back thereof, as the ticket will be a proof of the contributions having been paid, and they will be required to produce it upon applying for pensions.

13. Men-of-war's men who have contributed to the fund, and desire to continue their contributions, may do so at the rate herein-before fixed for seamen who are not discharged before a shipping master. Arrangements will be made as to the manner in which these contributions are to be received.

Grant of Pensions.

14. In every case in which a pension is claimed, it must be proved that the master or seaman who, or whose widow or children, make the claim, has contributed to the fund in the manner pointed out in the above rules as to contributions. No claim can be entertained by the trustees or local managers of the fund when the failure mentioned in rule 8 has taken place, or if the conditions contained in rule 10 are not strictly fulfilled. In case of any slight departure from the conditions contained in rules 7 and 9, the trustees or local managers are at liberty to state the circumstances for the consideration of the Board of Trade.

If the pension has not been forfeited under rule 8, but some arrears of contribution are due under rule 9, the pension may be granted; but the time for commencing payment of the pension will be deferred, or the rate will be diminished, so as to cover all arrears.

15. No pensioner is to be considered fully and finally entitled to his or her pension until the claim and the evidence in support of it have been submitted to the Board of Trade and approved by that Board, as noticed in rule 28.

16. The number of pensions granted at one port in one year to each of the different classes of pensioners herein-after mentioned must not exceed the average yearly number of similar pensions granted at the same port during the five years ending with 1851, except by the special direction of the Board of Trade.

When there is danger of exceeding the above-mentioned limit, those of the worn-out seamen who have contributed longest to the fund are to be first provided for.

17. Subject to the foregoing general conditions, pensions may be granted to the following classes of applicants:

(a.) Masters and seamen who can prove that they are rendered permanently incapable of service by sickness, wounds, or other accidental misfortune.

(b.) Masters and seamen who have become decrepit or worn-out by age.

(c.) Widows whose husbands have lost their lives in the merchant service, either by casualty, or by sickness incident to the nature of the service, or by drowning.

(d.) Widows whose husbands have contributed to the fund for twenty-one years, provided they were married before the time at which their husbands would have been entitled to receive pensions, in other words, before they became worn-out or decrepit, or incapable of service.

(e.) Widows whose husbands are at the time of their deaths receiving or entitled to receive a pension, provided they were married before the time at which the husbands were entitled to receive pensions, in other words, before they became worn-out, decrepit, or incapable of service.

(f.) Children whose fathers lose their lives in the merchant service, either by casualty, or by sickness incident to the nature of the service, or by drowning, provided such children are under fourteen years of age, or are from infirmity incapable of getting a livelihood.

(g.) Children whose fathers die after contributing for twenty-one years to the fund, provided that such children are under fourteen years of age, or are from infirmity incapable of getting a livelihood, and provided their mothers are, or if living would be, entitled to pensions.

(h.) Children whose fathers at the time of their deaths are in receipt of or entitled to receive pensions, provided that such children are under fourteen years of age, or are from infirmity incapable of getting a livelihood, and provided their mothers are, or if living would be, entitled to pensions.

18. The amount of pensions to be granted to each of the above classes will be as follows:

Masters	6	16	0	a year.
Seamen	3	8	0	„
Widows of Masters .	4	8	0	„
Widows of Seamen .	2	4	0	„
Children of Masters, each child	2	4	0	„
Children of Seamen, each child	1	2	0	„

But pensions are not to be granted to more than four children in one family, unless they are orphans.

19. Pensions may be granted to the above, notwithstanding that the pensioner is in receipt of other income derived from either wages, or public or private charity, or private property, or from a benefit society.

20. If men, after remaining in the service for the better part of their lives, quit the sea at an advanced age, but before becoming actually worn-out, and then earn a subsistence for a few years on shore, they are not on this account to be considered as forfeiting any claim on the fund for themselves, their widows or children, to which they would otherwise be entitled.

If, however, men quit the sea service when still of age and strength sufficient to turn permanently to some other work or business, they are to be considered to have ceased to be seamen, and no pension is to be granted to them when worn-out or decrepit, or to their widows or children.

Commutation of Claims.

21. Pensions already granted may be commuted, and gross sums of money may be granted in lieu of pensions in any special cases in which the money is wanted for purposes of emigration, or for other pressing purposes. The reason for the commutation must, however, be stated to the Board of Trade, and approved by that Board. The amount of such commutations and gratuities will be fixed by the Board of Trade.

Form and Nature of Claim, and of Evidence to support it.

22. The London Corporation and the Trustees of Outports will (unless their functions are suspended in consequence of their failing to be duly chosen, or resigning, or refusing or neglecting to act), select the persons who are to receive pensions, subject to the general rules, and to the tests hereby required, and to approval by the Board of Trade, and the muster rolls and books necessary for this purpose at their respective ports will remain in their possession. If any of these bodies are suspended, provision will be made for the performance of their duties, either by the Local Marine Board of the port, or if there is no Local Marine Board, or if that Board is unable or unwilling to undertake them, by the shipping master, to whom the muster rolls and books will in that case be transferred.

23. Pensions are to be granted at the port at which the claimants reside, without reference to the question whether the claimants, or their husbands or fathers, have contributed at that port.

24. Claims for pensions must be lodged with the president and governors, or the trustees, or with other the board or officers to whom the duty of inquiring into claims is committed.

The shipping master will, in all cases, inform claimants with whom to lodge their claims.

25. Claims must be made in printed forms, which will be furnished for the purpose by all shipping masters. These forms will contain directions as to the manner in which they are to be filled up and used.

26. The claims of a widow and her children must not be on the same form, but one form must be used for the widow, and a separate one for each child.

27. Satisfactory evidence will be required of the various circumstances requisite to support claims; and for that purpose the following rules are to be observed:—

(a.) Contributions to the fund prior to the 8th August 1851, having been universal and compulsory, will be considered as proved by the fact of service at sea in British vessels trading from ports in the United Kingdom. This service must be proved as follows:—If and so far as the service is stated to have been in vessels belonging to the port at which the claim is made, it must be verified by reference to the muster rolls there kept, and a statement of such verification must be made on the form of claim by the officer to whom the duty of examining claims is committed, and the claim must then be forwarded to the Registrar of Seamen. If this service is stated to have been partly or wholly in vessels belonging to other ports, the claim must be sent to the Registrar of Seamen for verification, who will either verify it by the records kept at his office, or will transmit it for verification to the port where the muster rolls in which such service is recorded are kept; from that port it will be returned to the Registrar.

(b.) Contributions to the fund subsequent to the 8th August 1851, not being universal or compulsory, must be proved to have been actually made. This must be done as follows:—The fund register ticket, upon which the receipt for each contribution will be marked, must, when practicable, be attached to the claim. The claim, with this fund ticket attached, will be sent to the Registrar of Seamen, who will verify it by the records of contributions kept in his office.

(c.) Claimants should also annex to their claims all certificates of discharge or other documents they may possess which can assist in proving their service to be such as is stated in the claim, whether such service has been prior or subsequent to the 8th August 1851.

(d.) Claims founded on permanent incapacity, arising from sickness, wounds, or accident, must be supported by a certificate, to be signed by two respectable inhabitants of the place, and to be confirmed by one or more of the trustees or local managers or officers acting at the port, after personal inspection, and also by the certificate of a medical man.

(e.) Claims founded on decrepitude or incapacity arising from age must be supported by the like evidence.

(f.) In the case of claims by widows and children, the death of the husband or father, if happening in this country, must be proved by burial certificate.

In the like cases, death, if happening during a voyage, and the causes thereof (if essential), will be shown, by reference to the muster rolls or to the lists kept by the Registrar of Seamen, or by a certificate from the Consul or other proper authority at the place where it happened.

(g.) In the case of claims made by widows, the marriage must always be proved, and this must be done by the production of the marriage certificate. In such cases it must also be shown that the marriage was contracted at a period of the husband's life before he became entitled to a pension, or, in other words, before he was worn-out, decrepit, or incapable of service.

(h.) In the cases of claims made by children, the marriage of their parents must be proved by the production of the marriage certificate; and their age must be shown to be under fourteen, by certificates of their birth or baptism.

(i.) For the purpose of proving, in the case of children above fourteen, that they are incapable from infirmity of obtaining a livelihood, medical certificates must be produced, and for the continuance of the pension, similar proof will from time to time be required.

(k.) Evidence which has been produced to establish one claim need not again be produced to establish another founded on the same circumstances; but a reference may be made to the claim already established.

28. When a claim has been established to the satisfaction of the trustees or local managers of the fund by the production of the evidence above required, and has been verified so far as is in their power by reference to the documents in their possession, it should be signed by them or by their officer, and forwarded, with all the necessary certificates or other documents annexed, to the Registrar of Seamen, Custom House, London. That officer will complete the verification as pointed out in rule 27, sections a and b, and return it to the trustees or local managers. If the trustees or local managers consider that the pension ought to be granted, the claim is then to be forwarded to the Board of Trade, with the resolution of the trustees and other necessary documents attached; and the Board of Trade, if satisfied that it is established, will, subject to the rules herein contained, place the name on the pension list, cause a pension ticket to be issued to the pensioner, and give directions for the payment of the pension.

29. Notice of the arrangements made for the payment of pensions will be given at the shipping master's offices, as well as at the places where pensions have hitherto been paid.

Suspension or Forfeiture of Pensions.

30. If a pensioner goes to sea after having had a pension granted to him, he is to report the same to the officer who pays his pension, and his pension is to cease: but he may apply to be restored to the pension list in the usual manner should he again become disabled, or be obliged to quit the service on account of age or infirmities. If, however, when he goes to sea he continues to receive his pension, or if he fails to report his going to sea as above required, his pension will not be restored.

31. If a pensioner enters the workhouse, his pension is to be suspended.

32. If a widow re-marries, her pension is to cease.

33. When children attain the age of fourteen, their pensions are to cease, except in the special cases of infirmity above noticed.

34. If a pensioner becomes a pauper lunatic, and is supported in a county asylum, his or her pension is to be suspended.

35. If a claimant or pensioner is convicted of felony, or is guilty of an attempt at fraudulent personation, or makes any fraudulent representation for the purpose of obtaining relief, his or her pension is to be forfeited.

36. If a pensioner changes his residence, he must within one month report the change to the officer who pays his pension; and if he does not do so, his pension is to be forfeited either in whole or in part.

37. If any pensioner is guilty of violent, insolent, or insubordinate conduct towards the persons employed in payment of the pensions, or appears in a state of intoxication at the time of payment, or when assembled by order of the person appointed to pay him, or is guilty of giving a false address, or enters a poor-house or hospital under a name different to that by which he is borne on the pension list, or is guilty of any other offence of a fraudulent or disgraceful nature, or tending to create disorder or confusion at the time of payment or assembly, he will be liable to be punished by the suspension either of a part or the whole of his pension, as the offence may appear to deserve, in addition to any other punishment which the law may inflict for the offence.
